

Granite City's latest unemployment statistics released from the Illinois Department of Labor found 16.1 percent of those actively seeking work here unemployed. As of March 1, however, by the state will make the job search easier, the collection of unemployment benefits for that number more difficult.

Both the Job Service Center, 7 American Village Shopping Center, and the Work Incentive Program (WIN), 25 Nameoki Village Shopping Center, are expected to close down their operations there soon. The move will put about 33 of its own workers on the unemployment rolls.

JOB SERVICE

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Most Madison Countians respect or, in some cases, fear the "long arm of the law" to the extent that increasing rates for whether enforcement officers should make use of their position by seeking contributions, even when every cent goes to a good cause.

Should anyone connected with police work "put the arm on" citizens for money, such as charging them for advertisements? A line should be drawn between the police and the "arm" that help the contributors, which may justify the sale and purchase of the space, and between advertising in newspapers and the police.

Benefit projects in which the backers are listed in general circulation newspapers are contrasted, by those who draw the line, with the "arm" of general circulation newspapers like the Press-Record with benefit projects in which ad books are printed for advertisers. The latter are for additional people distributed to potential customers.

There are sharp differences of opinion on this subject, perhaps best explained by the opposing viewpoints of Sheriff Elmer Toffant and his immediate predecessor as sheriff.

The predecessor's associates have been known to use a few heavy-handed tactics, taking advantage of people's desire to remain on good terms with the sheriff and his associates.

Toffant for many years was a highly respected and successful businessman and commander in the Illinois State Police.

The state troopers have such a rigid anti-gift policy that they won't accept a cigar, cigar, drink, cookie or piece of candy from anyone, even from those whom they have been of assistance to during the year.

The 1978 Madison County sheriff, John Toffant, and two others were convicted of federal law violations in 1979; two are to enter prison on Jan. 23 and Maers is to receive a physical examination to determine whether he can be imprisoned.

Sheriff Toffant, not a fan of the way Maers administered the office, said through every session of the trio's long trial.

Toffant then fired a deputy (not a misdefendant) who admitted past misconduct by himself (the deputy) who refused to testify.

The new sheriff also told the staff he inherited from Maers to shape up and be model officers, or face termination.

Maers' former staff, however, was retained, although there has been some turnover.

Only a few deputies were implicated in the state government's investigation, allegations and all are no longer with the sheriff department.

Testimony by various persons at the trial dealt with not only the activities of Sheriff Maeraas and others, but also the money-raising role of the Madison County Deputy Sheriff's Association, which went out of existence in August 1976.

A 44-page, 1974-vintage blue, yellow and white book—providing 83 questions and answers on the drug abuse problem—was sponsored by the deputy group and was financed by a wide range of contributors.

Those who promoted booklet ads made it amply clear they were effective fund-raisers.

Seven hundred and seventy-five signed on the dotted line, paying for the privilege of a brief mention—the Press-Record, SIU Pres. John Rendleman, Vanzo's Taproom, the Lee Park Recreation Center, doctors, lawyers, radio stations, oil firms, health spas, beauty salons, contractors—the list goes on almost endlessly.

Not many persons, it seems or com-

The Granite City Council Tuesday heard its comptroller ask for an immediate rate hike of about $9 per quarter in residential sewage treatment rate fees and a doubling of industrial charges, both by next month.

The higher rates would gradually pay back the wastewater treatment plant's debts to the city's ailing general fund and fill empty federally-mandated reserve funds over a four-year period.

Although Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadian asked Mlikovic to meet with the pollution plant committee this week to discuss alternatives to the increase, the comptroller has request that the council bring in the new ordinance by Tuesday.

The comptroller pushed for the quick passage of the rate hike ordinance to allow for a smooth billing transition between the current quarter rates ending this month and the higher rates expected to begin next month.

The new rates will increase city residential charges from $13 per quarter to $21.89 per quarter and raise industrial and commercial rates from 61.9 cents per 100 cubic feet of sewage to $1.21 per 100 cubic feet.

Disputes already have arisen between the city and Madison County's Special Service Area I over the new rates. City Attorney John Papa says the county treatment rates must reflect any charges incurred by city users, as he recalls the agreement between the Gene Futch, special sewer district superintendent, said yesterday that he thinks the county's contract with the city calls for an unchanged rate for at least another year.

Papa said the city would have to review the contract and determine what affect the expected hikes might have on the county. Users in the special district now pay $15.80 per month and

The Granite City Council refused to accept the resignation of three Air Pollution Control Board members, including its president, submitted Tuesday along with a letter calling for the end of the Air Pollution Control Office.

The resignations were refused when a motion to accept them lacked a second and the recommendations to end the office were blocked by a motion to defer action on them.

The signature of First Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish along with those of resigning President R. William Rotter, member J. R. Shanks and Technical Secretary Ted Macios accompanied the recommendations. The council to:

- Suspend all operations of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Department and lay off all remaining air pollution employees.
- Inform the USEPA (U.S. Environmental Protection Agency) and the EPA (Illinois Environmental Protection Agency) that the city financial situation requires us to temporarily abandon the city air pollution program until such time that state or federal funds are available to replace the federal grant which the city has lost.

The air board members and secretary wrote they felt the recommendations were necessary because:

- The city has received no grant money since April, 1981.
- The amount of money to be negotiated under the federal grant for the period from April until Oct. 31, is questionable.
- No new agreement has been negotiated between the staff and the state to replace the old agreements.
- The city is now paying for 100 percent of the air pollution program.
- The current cost to the city with one adequately. "The board members are not kept informed of the activities of the city personnel, department and the actual costs of all aspects of the program," he said.

"It is with great reluctance that we make this statement," he said. "In the light of the city's financial squeeze, we can not in good conscience recommend a program that is not adequate and proper (thou) adequate and proper federal aid and without adequate staff to meet the important functions of the department."

Mayor Paul Schuler disagreed with both actions taken by two of the five board members and said he would ask the board members to discuss their resignations.

"I hope board members' reconsideration of the city as it stands is such as this," the mayor said. "I think everyone knows I didn't support the layoff."

Schuler said he did not think he could stress in strong enough terms the need

Granite City merchants are studying the feasibility of filing a lawsuit challenging collection of a "city" sales tax. The city levies a three-quarter percent sales tax and are consulting with an attorney, the Press-Record has learned.

The city council may be launched were made during Tuesday night's city council meeting by Alderman Steve Sallich, who said a merchant told him that the council's merchants had been formed and funds were being raised for a challenge.

A merchant, who asked not to be identified at this time, confirmed that a group challenge is being considered, but stated, "I don't know if we have anything to gain by going out on our own."

He also stated, "A lawyer has not yet taken the case."

Other merchants said that funds have been pledged by several stores to finance such a court battle.

The city's former one percent sales tax, which did not have a "city" in the name and was not taxed was ruled unconstitutional by the circuit court after auto dealers challenged it, saying it would encourage the city to move to Collinsville, Edwardsville or St. Louis to try and save the city approximately $50 or $60 city tax on

To avoid another challenge by auto dealers, the council voted the new $\frac{3}{4}$ percent sales tax ordinance with a cap, which sets a maximum amount of tax that can be collected for any one major purchase. The tax can only be collected on the first \$500 of any major item sold, and it can be collected on cars or other large-ticket items.

Dealers refunded to customers the money they collected during the 1984-85 period when the economic tax was in effect, but merchants who sold smaller items have been left without guidelines as to what to do with the money. They cannot legally be forced to the state.

The cap on the tax may have settled the main objection posed by auto dealers, but it presented a question about how the tax should be charged on certain sets of purchases, such as a dining room table and chairs or a living room set.

Legal counsel for City Attorney John Papa indicated that sets must be broken into individual items and each item taxed separately.

For example, a sofa and a dryer are sold as a combination, for one price, it will be the responsibility of the dealer to determine a separate price for each item and collect the full city tax on each, even if the total.

Record $2 billion year for bank cards

It was a record $2 billion year for bank charge cards in 1981 in the trade area which includes metropolitan St. Louis.

The combined dollar volume of MasterCard and Visa business was $2,074,781,000, up 14 percent over the $1,812,676,000 recorded in 1980.

The number of individual cardholder transactions — retail sales and bank cash advances — also increased, by six percent to 56,945,000 from 53,882,000, an average transaction of $36.43.

This record-setting volume was reported Monday by Credit Systems, Incorporated, the operating center for MasterCard and Visa in the five-state area of Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Iowa and eastern Kentucky.

"Even December's Christmas period was the biggest month in our history," stated John G. Regan, president of CSI, "although it did not reach the level we had anticipated."

Combined dollar volume was up seven percent for the month to $251,334,000, and transactions increased two percent to 6,580,000.

"Our bank card operation here in the Midwest survived the soft economy and government credit controls of 1980," Regan said, "and we hope the momentum built up in 1981 will carry forward into the current year."

There are over 7,000 merchant outlets and two million cardholders in the CSI system. About two-thirds of the system's dollar volume is on MasterCard and the remaining one-third on Visa.

Thief takes soda, change

A man about 19 years old apparently was responsible for breaking the padlock on a soda machine outside Farm Fresh Dairy Store, 2928 Nameoki Road, and stealing an undetermined amount of soda and change, it was reported late last week.

A passerby told police he saw the young man loading soda into the bed of a white pickup truck and upon noticing he was being observed, the man tossed a soda to the witness, saying, "Here, you want one?"

The passerby, who remained at the scene until an employee of the store arrived, said the thief had short brown hair, a small mustache and was wearing a brown jacket.

7% of elderly neglected, abused

The term "golden years" does not apply to approximately one million elderly in our country. Because of physical, mental or financial problems, this seven percent will live out the rest of their lives alone, neglected and possibly abused. These are the tragic facts given by Mrs. Ceil Reh, M.S.W., retired manager of Visiting Nurse Association of Greater St. Louis; and James Sebben, M.S.W., Social Service Manager, Visiting Nurse Association of Greater St. Louis, speakers at a workshop hosted by the Social Work Department of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The workshop was presented by the Southern Illinois Chapter of the Society for Hospital Social Work Directors, and arranged by Paula Nicolet, Director of Social Work Services, St. Joseph's Hospital in Highland.

Mrs. Reh and Sebben were instrumental in forming the Missouri Association for Prevention of Abuse to Adults in St. Louis in 1974. MAPAA is a non-profit social advocacy group. The goals of the organization are to broaden current state laws offering protective services and develop a community service system agency for elderly in need of help.

Mrs. Reh stated that the typical victim is 75 years of age or more, female, lives in inadequate housing, is poor or middle class; she has outlived her spouse, siblings and offspring; is chronically or acutely ill, will not ask for assistance, and many times resists any help offered. Many of the neglected persons seen by social agencies are victims of self-neglect.

Sebben explained that the abused adult will often have a caretaker or live with family members. The strain of inflation, unemployment and several generations living under one roof can raise the stress level to an explosive point. Violence, so prevalent in our society, is certainly present in many families.

These destructive life-style patterns can be broken but it often takes the objectivity of someone outside the family to accomplish this.

Mrs. Reh and Sebben both stressed public awareness of the problems, protective laws and community service systems so that quality of life keeps pace with quantity, and "over 65" can truly be the "golden years."

More local flexibility in special education is urged

A preliminary report on Special Education mandates has reaffirmed the importance of providing all children with an appropriate education, but suggests a need for more local flexibility in administering special education rules and regulations.

The Illinois State Board of Education's Planning and Policy Committee conducted public hearings on the preliminary report Wednesday in Springfield and another is scheduled for Feb. 10 in Chicago.

The preliminary report on special education mandates is part of the Illinois State Board of Education's effort to review all mandates placed upon elementary and secondary education.

In Chicago, the hearing will be from 10 a.m. to noon at the Americana Congress Hotel. An interpreter for the deaf will be present at both hearings.

The report stresses a need for special education mandates to recognize the desires of local boards, parents and professionals to make appropriate decisions concerning their children. However, the state recognizes its responsibility in protecting children from intentional or unintentional abridgment of that decision-making process.

"The task force believes, for example, that a local interdisciplinary staffing with parental involvement can determine in what size of class, and with what kind of children, a child should be placed."

At present, special education rules and regulations specify the number of students per teacher for the various special education classes.

Also, the report recommends lowering the age requirement from three years to one year for providing special education services for students. Statistics demonstrate that special education instruction is much more effective when the child's problem is identified at an earlier age, the report said. It recommends keeping the upper age limit at 21.

The report emphasizes a need to streamline present rules and regulations governing the placement of students in special education classes. Modifications in the Individualized Education Plan (IEP) for students also are recommended.

The recommended modifications to the IEPs would provide the reasons for those services, the procedures for evaluating the effectiveness of programs, and the conditions for terminating services.

Also, the report cites a need for research on the disproportionate number of black students placed in educable mentally handicapped (EMH) classes and the over-representation of white children in learning-disabled classes.

The report recommends that the State Superintendent of Education seek cooperation from the U.S. Congress and the Illinois General Assembly in declaring a moratorium through 1984 on any additional laws governing local or state education agencies.

To ensure that handicapped persons obtain free, appropriate instructional and supportive services for their needs, the report suggests the establishment of a system for interagency cooperation to deal with the full spectrum of human services.

After receiving comments on the recommendations in the preliminary report, the committee will review the report and comments before the superintendent makes his recommendations to the committee on a policy position for the board.

National Steel earnings up in '81; first '82 quarter difficult for steel

National Steel Corp. on Monday at Pittsburgh reported earnings of $86.1 million, or $4.59 per share in 1981, on revenues of $4.2 billion.

This compares with 1980 earnings of $83.8 million, or $4.42 per share on revenues of $3.9 billion.

Fourth quarter, 1981, earnings were $16.8 million, or 89 cents per share on revenues of $942 million, compared with $15.3 million, or 82 cents per share on revenues of $1 billion in the similar 1980 quarter.

Steel shipments in 1981 totaled 6.6 million tons, nearly the same as in 1980. Shipments in the fourth quarter were 1.4 million tons, 25 percent below the 1.8 million tons shipped in the similar 1980 period.

"Earnings from operations improved significantly in 1981 over the previous year, when we had a net gain of $81.5 million from the sale of excess steam coal reserves aided the 1980 results," said Howard M. Love, chairman and president.

"All segments of National Steel's business — steel and raw materials, fabricated products, aluminum, and financial services — contributed to the corporation's profitability for the year."

"Our break-even point has been lowered significantly, and the corporation is positioned to benefit from an upturn in demand sooner than in previous years," Love said. He is a former president of Granite City Steel.

A significant portion of the corporation's 1981 cash flow from operations was utilized to reduce National's long-term debt ratio from 36 percent in 1980 to 31 percent in 1981.

Capital expenditures planned for 1982 amount to approximately $230 million, a 31 percent increase over 1981's $175 million.

"The near-term outlook for steel demand is not encouraging. The first quarter will be a very difficult period, with only moderate improvement expected in the second quarter."

"The recent decline in the inflation rate is an encouraging sign that the Administration's programs will begin to revive the economy as the year unfolds," Love said.

"The steel and raw materials groups showed an operating profit for the year despite a loss in the fourth quarter."

"While steel shipments in 1981 were at virtually the same low level as in 1980, a modest operating profit was achieved in 1981, compared with a loss of over $100 million the previous year."

"This was the result of careful control of inventories and production, extensive cost reduction, and aggressive marketing programs."

"Results for the year were dampened in the fourth quarter by the combined effects of the recession and an unprecedented surge in imported steel."

"As a result, our shipments in the fourth quarter declined to the lowest level for that period in a decade, and prices were heavily impacted by discounting," the board chairman related.

"Unless imports are reduced significantly and soon, modernization programs for steel plants will be revised downward and there will be further unemployment," Love said.

"There should be no doubt in the minds of European steel producers as to the seriousness of their recent actions. There is no question that such violations of trade laws are causing injury to the domestic steel industry."

"We have a very strong case which shows that many foreign steel producers are being supported by subsidies from their governments — by as much as $533 per ton — at the expense of the American steel industry and its steelworkers."

For the fourth quarter, steel production totaled 1.6 million tons, compared with 2.1 million tons in the comparable 1980 quarter.

Love reported, "Led by the good results achieved by National Pipe and Tube Co., the fabricated products group recorded a significant profit improvement in 1981. Earnings of National Steel Service Centers Inc. were reduced by imports and low prices."

"Bull Moose Tube Co. performed well during the year. National Steel Products Co. incurred a loss as high interest rates depressed the demand for pre-engineered buildings during the year."

"A 50,000-ton-per-year expansion program for oil country goods at National Pipe and Tube began start-up operations several weeks ago. Opportunities for continuing improvement in the performance of the fabricated products group lead to a favorable outlook for this segment in 1982."

"National Aluminum's operating profit declined 44 percent from the previous year's record earnings due to sharply lower demand and low prices which prevailed in the worldwide market for aluminum."

"An unfavorable swing in National Aluminum's equity earnings from Southwire Co. further impacted results."

"Its sales, prices and profits are expected to remain at reduced levels through the first half of the year and to improve gradually thereafter."

Love continued, "Our financial services group reported a net profit in the fourth quarter as well as for the year."

"These results were achieved in the worst environment the savings and loan business has experienced in its history."

"The group benefited from its real estate development activity, which emphasizes low- and medium-priced single-family homes in California."

"Results also were enhanced by the recent acquisition of two large savings and loan associations in New York and Florida, arranged through an agreement with the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., which is providing long-term financial assistance."

"The marketing

Bi-State busy during Lambert fog problem

Bi-State Parks Airport near Cahokia proved its value as a reliever airport for Lambert-St. Louis International Airport by accepting commuter, business and general aviation aircraft from Lambert during last Friday's bad weather, a spokesman said Monday. While dense fog closed Lambert periodically on Jan. 22, Bi-State Parks remained open, accepting three Air Illinois flights and at least a half dozen corporate and private aircraft.

More than 150 passengers had a chance to use Bi-State Park's new terminal building. The building, completed last fall, is part of a $5 million improvement program designed to attract regularly scheduled commercial flights and to establish Bi-State Parks as St. Louis' "downtown airport."

A restaurant and lounge are scheduled to be opened soon at the airport, and development has begun on an adjacent 300-acre industrial park.

The full-service airport is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with an FAA-operated control tower manned from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

4-0 vote leaves Price on ballot

By ED GURNEY
An electoral board has thrown out a request to have U.S. Rep. Mel Price taken off the Democratic primary ballot.

The board decided it had no jurisdiction to rule on the question of whether Price is a resident of 426 N. Eighth St. in East St. Louis, as is stated on his filing petitions. The man who filed the challenge, Dr. Cesar Climaco of Belleville, said afterward he is uncertain if he will appeal. Climaco's wife, Sandra, is running against Price in the March 16 primary.

Climaco is a general surgeon with offices in Fairview Heights and Belleville. His wife, 29, is a former nurse.

Price, 77, represented himself at the hearing, as did Climaco. The hearing was held at the St. Clair County courthouse.

The board did disqualify two pages of Price's nominating petition because they were not notarized, but it dismissed several other objections raised by Dr. Climaco.

The electoral board was chaired by Arthur Henken, a circuit judge from Clinton County.

Other members of the board were Bond County State's Attorney Charles Romani Jr. and Circuit Judges William Johnson of Madison County, Stephen Kerman of St. Clair County and Dennis Huber of Montgomery County.

Price's candidacy petitions should be declared invalid because of the allegedly fraudulent statement on them that Price lives in East St. Louis.

I went to this address at 426 N. Eighth," Climaco told the board. "There was nobody answering the door." He said neighbors told him a black family lives there. "They never heard of him," Climaco said.

"Congress is the only body that has the authority to set qualifications for anyone running," Kerman said. "Case law says the states can't add or subtract from the qualifications."

A candidate need only be an inhabitant of a Congressional district at the time he is elected, Kerman said. "At this time, he doesn't even have to be a resident of the state of Illinois," he said.

The vote was 4-0 that the board has no jurisdiction over the residency matter. Johnson abstained.

Climaco at the start of the hearing asked unsuccessfully for Johnson to be disqualified from serving on the board because of an alleged prejudice. Climaco said Johnson had donated $5,250 to the Madison County Democratic Central Committee in 1978 and 1980.

Johnson said he was not prejudiced to either Price or Climaco.

Price said after the hearing that he has owned the East St. Louis property since 1924, pays taxes on it and has furniture and clothing in the home. His housekeeper lives there now, he said.

Price said he used to live at the home before Congress began meeting most of the year.

Dr. Climaco in the hearing said he was told Price stayed at the Hyatt Lodge in Belleville while he was in the area. "It's a matter of convenience to my constituents," Price said later.

The congressman said "yes" when asked if he had come from Washington to be at the hearing. An aide interrupted to say Price had had several other commitments.

"I came in mainly for this purpose because I thought the board is trying to do a good job and I wanted to cooperate," Price said.

The board retired into closed session twice, once for 10 minutes to discuss its jurisdiction over the residency matter, and another time for 25 minutes to discuss Dr. Climaco's other objections.

The doctor said there were two places on each page of the petitions where the Congressional district number was supposed to be written. On many of the pages, the number was omitted from one of those spots, he said.

He also objected to the use of ditto marks under the county addresses of many signers. State election officials told him that was improper, Dr. Climaco said.

He said the two pages thrown out because they weren't notarized contained about 50 signatures (not enough to disallow the petition).

Sewer rate

could see their rates rise to about $17.90 per month.

Explaining the higher increase to industry as opposed to the lesser increase for residential users, Miklovic said residential users already are paying more than their proportionate share for the support of the wastewater treatment plant.

Over the last three years, Miklovic said, residents have accounted for only about 40 percent of the flow into the plant but have been paying about 50 percent of the charges.

Answering a question by Sixth Ward Alderman Stephen Saltich, Miklovic said the city should not now turn the tables and begin charging industry proportionately more to adjust any past unfair charges to residents.

Miklovic said the law requires that each user be charged an amount equal to his share of the use and any attempt to do otherwise could result in court action by industry.

Miklovic did point out that the city now is depending on an industrial "honor system" to determine the extent of sewage plant usage by the heavy users. He said the sewage plant now receives discharges that are not accounted for and the cost of treating those discharges has to be shared as an equal burden to all.

Terrance McMillan, GC wastewater plant superintendent, said that when the council passes a pretreatment revenue ordinance, the city will be able to stop relying on the honor system and will find out for itself how much sewage each industrial user has been contributing to the plant.

Miklovic said the sewage treatment plant rate review does not take into consideration the effect of the pretreatment program. He said the rate review considers the effect of the collection of $68,446 in outstanding user debts to the plant.

Increased rates are projected to increase annual revenues at the plant from $1.5 million to $2.5 million in the first year.

The 68 percent residential rate increase and the 110 percent industrial rate hike are needed to make the plant self-sustaining, as mandated by federal grants and contracts used to build and maintain the plant, Miklovic said.

Contrary to the self-sustaining rule, the plant has found itself in debt to Granite City's general fund for about $360,000. Miklovic said other payments the wastewater plant must make, but has been neglecting, are a break-even plant budget, and continued collection of grants from the federal government.

Alderman Warren Decatur, however, already has said the plant budget may be overextended by $50,000 by the end of this fiscal year.

Man crushed today by rail cars

Raymond L. Gillam, 57, of Belleville, a switchman for the Illinois Terminal Railroad, was fatally injured when he was pinched between the couplings of two railroad cars in the Madison Rail Yard in Venice approximately 12:35 a.m. today. He was pronounced dead at the scene at 1:45 a.m. today by Madison County Deputy Coroner Richard Annoti.

Gillam was described as "an alert, capable employee" who had a clear safety record during his 30 years of employment by the railroad, according to Doug Weitzman, general superintendent for ITRR.

Weitzman said that Mr. Gillam was in the process of coupling cars approximately 13 cars from the engine. He ordered the engine crew by radio to back up to the next car, which was approximately 50 to 60 feet away. The crew followed the order and was unaware that Mr. Gillam had been pinched in the coupling.

Employees operating the hump noticed that the end of the train was approaching an area closed off to switching operations and alerted the engine by radio that something was wrong. The engine crew then attempted to reach Mr. Gillam by radio. When he did not respond, a member of the train crew checked the couplings and found Mr. Gillam on the ground.

Weitzman said investigators have been unable to determine how Mr. Gillam got in the area of the couplings. Railroad security agents, Venice police and medical assistance were summoned. When no signs of life could be found in Mr. Gillam, the deputy coroner was summoned.

Annoti described the injuries as severe and limited to the midsection. Weitzman said the injuries were not the type caused when a workman is caught between the couplings, but appeared as though Mr. Gillam was pinched between two arms of the couplings and then dropped to the ground.

Mr. Gillam was taken to Memorial Chapel, 635 Madison Ave., Madison, and arrangements were being made this morning to take his body to Belleville for services. Details appear in today's obituary column.

RESISTING AND ESCAPING

Mark Anthony Breeden, 20, of 1807 Washington Ave., Madison, was released after paying $130 at 4 p.m. Tuesday, after pleading guilty to a resisting arrest charge when police tried to serve a warrant earlier in the day. The warrant, charging escape, was issued Aug. 23, 1981. A court spokesman said a court date will be reset for a jury trial on the escape charge and Breeden was released.

Air pollution

for an air pollution control department in the city. The mayor said it would be day dreaming to believe the state would take over the duties the city had performed.

Skubish, chairman of the council's air pollution control committee, said the board's actions stemmed from frustrations of watching the office become fragmented. He said the decision to disband was made with the "intent of being prudent and trying to save the city funds badly needed in other sectors."

Skubish had made a motion on the council floor to concur with the recommendations of his fellow board members but was stopped by a motion to defer action by Third Ward Alderman Carl Kittle, a member of the council's air pollution control committee chaired by Skubish. The mayor did not allow any further debate after Kittle's motion.

Skubish asked Attorney Lance Callis, acting in the absence of the city attorney, what right the mayor had to end debate. The attorney called the actions by the mayor a matter of "aldermanic courtesy."

Skubish has requested Callis submit a written explanation of how a request to defer can result in the tabling of a motion.

Kittle and City Engineer Monroe, also head of the air pollution office, both said they attended the air board meeting last week, where it had been their opinion the air pollution control board members would wait for two more weeks for the state to submit a new contract agreement.

After that meeting a headline had appeared in Monday's issue of the Press-Record "Granite City agrees to end air pollution role" was incorrect. Skubish and Rotter were the only members present of the five-member air board when it met last week. Absent were Charles Shanks, who had informed the board he would be unable to attend the session, Harold Fischer and Goni Michaeloff.

Alderman Carl Kittle, on the council's air pollution control committee, attended the meeting and said he wanted the city to continue its role in pollution regulation even if in a reduced capacity.

Brewer had told board members he expected to receive a revised air services grant contract from the state. The contract will probably assign air monitoring equipment and readings to the state office in Collinsville and make the city responsible for visual pollution sighting, resident complaints and plant inspections.

At Tuesday's council meeting, Brewer said the state has informed him they hoped to submit the contract and hoped it would be signed by Feb. 1.

Burglary victims may view $1 million in items Saturday

Victims of recent residential burglaries are being urged to examine items seized by the East Alton police when a search warrant was served on a home in Granite City Jan. 15.

A special viewing time has been arranged for Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the East Alton Police Department, in the Vital Service Building, Main and Shamrock streets, East Alton.

The estimated $1 million worth of items to be shown were seized when a search warrant was executed at the home of Charles Hileman, 2330 Lynch Ave., by East Alton and Granite City policemen, state troopers, Madison County sheriff's deputies and Madison County assistant state's attorneys Jan. 15.

The items removed included numerous rings and items of jewelry, several motorcycles, silver, coins, stereos, television sets and other items.

Police Chief George Michael Urban of East Alton announced Tuesday, "This property will not be displayed to be runnaged through by persons looking for their property. Therefore, the following procedure will be followed.

"Persons must be able to describe their property and verify the loss with a police report and then be allowed to view only the property they have described.

"If any identification is made, the property will then be marked as evidence and further criminal procedures will be initiated. No items will be returned at this time.

"In expectation of a large turnout, additional security will be assigned and representatives from the state's attorney's office will be present for assistance to the police department," Urban said.

He said that if another showing is necessary, other than the Saturday showing, another will be arranged. "We are asking persons to please be patient with the department during this process," Urban said.

If victims of recent burglaries or thefts are unable to attend Saturday, they may forward a copy of their loss to the East Alton Police Department, Vital Service Building, Main and Shamrock streets, East Alton, Ill., 62024, he added.

Officers will contact those whose descriptions match items on display.

Heads student nurses

Marilyn Szczepanik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Szczepanik, 2542 Ivy Lane, has been elected president of the Student Nurses Association at Jewish Hospital School of Nursing, St. Louis.

The young woman also serves as director of public relations for the Missouri State Student Nurses Association Board of Directors.

She is active at the association's national and state levels and serves as delegate to the various conventions.

At Jewish Hospital, Miss Szczepanik is on the honor roll. She actively participates in student affairs and is a member of the Health, Guidance and Welfare and Recruitment committees.

She also has been selected to receive an International Youth in Achievement award for 1982.

Miss Szczepanik is a 1980 graduate of Granite City High School North.

Propose increasing state camping fees

The Illinois Department of Conservation has notified State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) that it proposes increasing camping fees charged on state-managed properties.

Proposed is increasing the Class A camping fee from $5 to $6 a day. Class A is the designation for camping rights with electricity and the availability of a shower or flush toilet building.

Class B fees should rise from $4 to $5 a day, the department believes. Class B covers less elaborate camping sights with electricity and a shower or flush toilet building.

Class C fees, for properties with vehicular access, should rise from $2 to $3 a day, and Class D sites, walk-in properties only, should charge $2 a day, double the present fee.

Class E, a category for youth group camping, should increase from a $2 per day minimum to a $5 per day minimum and the charge for each youth in a group should increase from 25-cents per day to 50-cents, the department proposes.

between 25 and 30 percent) and offset approximately 15 to 20 percent of our current deficit," Tamminga said in his letter to Wolf.

He added, "I should point out that campers do generate additional state revenues by virtue of their patronage of state concessions. In addition, the largest single loss element in our management of campgrounds is the statutory benefit package provided to disabled and senior citizens. These citizens who camp for half price, or no charge on weekdays, account for approximately 40 percent of our usage during the camping season."

He noted that Class A, B and E rates have not increased since May, 1977, and Class C and D rates have remained the same since February, 1970. "The costs of labor, energy and materials continue to increase each year," he added.

"I am convinced that these fee increases are fair and equitable, especially in light of the fiscal constraints which we are all faced to confront. We have begun the process of amending our administrative orders so that these changes can be filed with the secretary of state for the required review period," Tamminga concluded.

BAC TOUR IN MAY

Students will be able to learn history first hand and earn three history credits on a May 14-28 tour offered by Bellevue Area College. The course, History Tour 299, takes students to major historical sights in England, France, Germany, Belgium and The Netherlands.

SEIZED ITEMS taken by police from the Granite City Home of former fire chief Charles Hileman are displayed by Mike Urban, chief of police of East Alton. Officers are attempting to determine ownership of numerous items, estimated by Urban to be worth approximately $1 million.

Philippians 4:7... "And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus."

God's peace passes our understanding. Hear the Spirit's message to your spirit. God's peace. Not man's peace. Not our striving. It is God's peace.

This peace comes only from Him. It is like no other on earth. It is supernatural peace. It is peace in the midst of a storm. It is trust and rest in a God who will not, cannot fail.

His peace shall keep you. His peace will be sufficient. It will not come by degrees. It does not develop by stages. He gives perfect peace. He gives it to all alike. He is no respecter of persons.

God wants to give you His peace.

Granite City Steel proudly introduces our most valuable asset.

We're talking about the old, traditional American asset that makes the product we turn out at Granite City Steel stand up to anything produced by anybody anywhere.

That asset is pride.

When you feel it, it shows. That's why it's probably one of the best things we've got going for us here at Granite City—in the mill, on the loading dock, in our offices.

So when the critics out there say Americans have gone soft, that we can't compete anymore, that Japanese and European workers are more productive and making better quality goods, we say it's time to talk back.

We don't want to keep our pride a secret.

Too often bad things make headlines while good things are buried on the back page. Our aim is to change that.

We aim to let everybody know about Granite City Steel people and their pride.

So starting this month we're launching a program to showcase the outstanding achievements of Granite City employees.

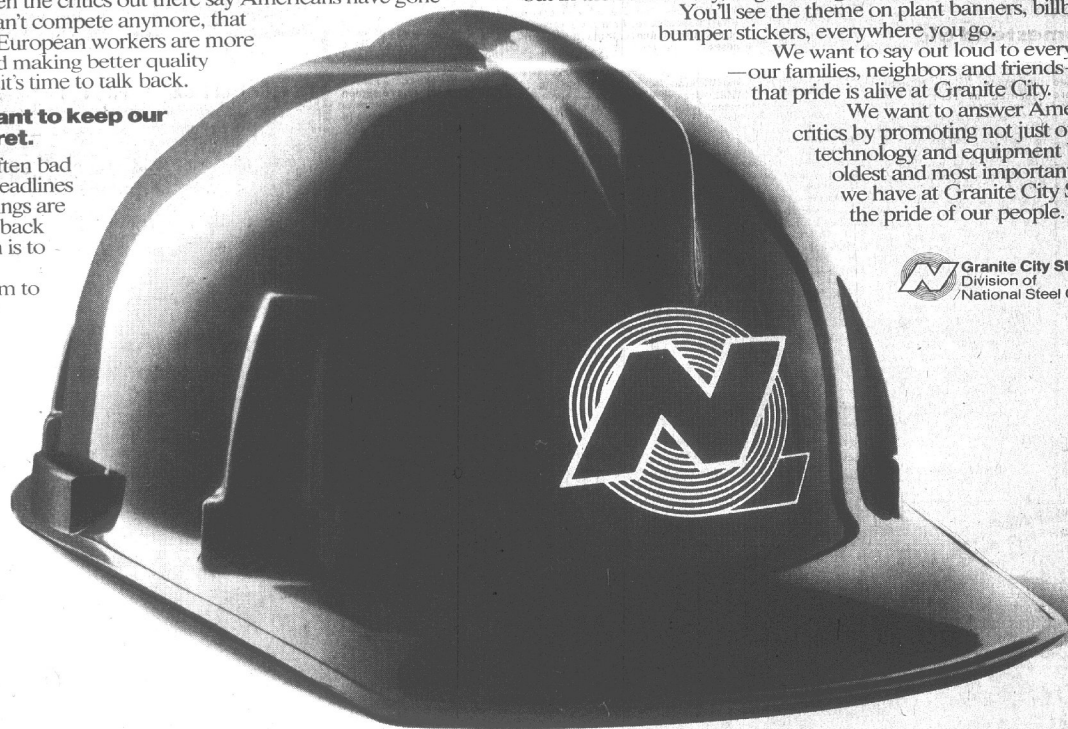

The theme: "National Pride. It shows in everything we do at Granite City Steel."

You'll see newspaper ads and posters featuring individuals and teams who have let their pride show—not just on the job but in the community, as good neighbors and active citizens.

You'll see the theme on plant banners, billboards, bumper stickers, everywhere you go.

We want to say out loud to everybody—our families, neighbors and friends—that pride is alive at Granite City.

We want to answer America's critics by promoting not just our new technology and equipment but the oldest and most important asset we have at Granite City Steel: the pride of our people.

panies were misled. The courts later said of "lucrative sheriff-connected solicitations" that they "never received numerous complaints about the nature of the solicitations. Without the bribery (of the sheriff), the solicitations would undoubtedly not have continued."

On the slick-surface cover of the booklet was the smiling face of the sheriff, lending official sanction to the endeavor.

Half-page "Compliments of..." advertisements were run for Central Illinois White Trucks, Inc., of Highland, an attorney, Miller Steel Supply and singer Crisley Lane.

The latter is the wife of Leland "Lee" Stoller, Nashville, Tenn., who along with Maeras was one of three defendants in the 1979 trial in Alton. The third defendant was John Cooper, a deputy, a lieutenant and then captain and chief of field operations under Maeras.

The 273 Quad-City area advertisers included 221 in Granite City, 47 in Madison and five in Venice.

Of 240 Alton area persons and firms listed in the book, 127 were from Alton, 39 from Wood River, 28 from East Alton, 20 from Godfrey, seven from Cottage Hills, six from Rosewood Heights, five from Hartford, three from Roxana, three from Bethalto and two from South Roxana.

Collinsville listings totaled 92, Edwardsville 72, Highview 37, St. Louis 12, Troy five, Marine four, Livingston two, Aviston, Glen Carbon, Moro and Carlinville one each and unspecified Illinois locations, three.

Five St. Louis advertisers appeared in the booklet.

Twenty-two St. Clair County area contributors included 11 in East St. Louis, seven in Belleville and one each in Fairmont City, Fairview Heights, O'Fallon and Lebanon.

The Deputy Association stated, "This informative booklet has been made possible through the generous support of the following merchants and professional people. We would appreciate your patronizing our friends."

Judges of the U.S. Court of Appeals, Seventh Circuit, wrote June 30, 1981, that "the defendants argue that the verdicts (convicting the three men of criminal acts) were against the manifest weight of the evidence."

"Viewed in the light most favorable to the government, Glasser vs. United States, 315 U.S. 60, 80 (1942), the evidence of the guilt of Maeras and Cooper was overwhelming."

"The testimony of (two trial witnesses) constituted direct evidence of the participation by the defendants in the department's pattern of racketeering activity."

"Although Stoller did not participate in the towing and prostitution payoffs, there was substantial direct evidence of his involvement in the bribery of the sheriff (and some) deputies."

"We reject Stoller's contention that he was a victim of the extortionate acts underlying the mail and wire fraud charges, and that he could therefore not be prosecuted as a participant."

"We find his position indistinguishable from that of the defendant supplier in United States vs. George, 477 F. 2d 508 (7th Cir.), cert. denied sub nom. Greenpeace vs. United States, 414 U.S. 827 (1973)."

"In that case, the defendant supplier's kickbacks made him a participant in the scheme to defraud, since he thereby gained a monopolistic position in supplying his cabinets to Zenith, the defrauded party. Similarly, here Stoller was able to maintain his position as sole agent for the DEA sheriff (Maeras' Association), and he profited from his position handsomely."

"Stoller's involvement in the RICO (Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations statute) enterprise itself was substantial."

"He agreed to pay 10 percent of the gross money solicited for DEA to the sheriff (Maeras' Association), who eventually received $10,000 to $12,000."

"Defendant Cooper and another, deputy each received about $3,000. 'This money was paid so that Stoller could maintain a monopoly on the lucrative sheriff-connected solicitations.'

"Seven dances were solicited in five years; other solicitations were made for ad books and decals."

"The sheriff received numerous complaints about the nature of the solicitations and, without the bribery, the solicitations would undoubtedly not have continued."

"In addition to paying off Maeras through Cooper and Burns, Stoller entered into the 006 Detective Agency with Cooper, through which Stoller within something less than a year paid to Cooper several thousand dollars."

"Also, some 006 expenses were paid out of DEA contributions."

"Cooper, in return, used his influence as a deputy sheriff to promote Stoller's solicitation activities with other sheriff departments throughout the country."

"Stoller made use of a letter on the letterhead of John Maeras, Sheriff of Madison County," signed by "Lt. John Cooper, Madison County Sheriff Department," addressed "To Whom It May Concern," saying:

"Stoller Enterprises of Peoria, Ill., is presently conducting a sales program to obtain sponsors for our 2nd Annual Sheriff's Dance to be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 15, 16 and 17, 1972."

"Our Deputy Sheriff's Association has again retained Stoller Enterprises because of the outstanding job the firm did last year in soliciting ads for our yearbook."

"The Crisley Lane Show brought the largest gathering of people together (for our dance) in the history of Madison County, Ill. This would include, of course, all political functions."

"I am sure that the professional ethics of Stoller Enterprises would be of great value to any police agency wishing to raise funds for any cause."

"An analogous situation," the judges continued, "occurred in United States vs. Bright, 630 F. 2d 904 (5th Cir. 1980), where Bright's sole participation in the sheriff's enterprise took the form of bribery of the sheriff so that Bright could operate his bail bonding business as a monopoly."

"The Fifth Circuit held that 'there was sufficient evidence from which a jury could find that Bright participated in the affairs of the sheriff's office by bribing the sheriff.' 630 F. 2d at 931; see also id. at 929-31."

"We conclude that the (1979 Alton) verdicts were supported by substantial evidence as to each defendant (Maeras, Cooper and Stoller)."

"Having examined the record, we find that the defendants' remaining arguments are without merit. For the foregoing reasons, the judgments of the district court are affirmed."

Earlier in the discussion of their decision, the appeal judges had related that "Cooper explained to Stoller what a powerful man Maeras was in Madison County and that—without his approval—any fund-raising activity would be doomed."

"Stoller objected at first but they soon reached an agreement by which Stoller was to pay 10 percent to Maeras of the gross money collected."

"Despite tomorrow's scheduled imprisonment of the former fund-raiser and one of the former law enforcement officers, the debate over raising of voluntary contributions—by or on behalf of individuals in powerful law enforcement offices—undoubtedly will continue."

Of course, it should be kept in mind that, even when a conflict of interest or an abuse of power might appear to exist, in most cases fund-raising serves highly useful and commendable purposes.

And authorities point out that instances of hidden financial kickbacks, like the kind documented in the federal trial, are rare. Fraud, fortunately, remains the exception rather than the usual practice.

of the two exceeds the $500 limit.

A separate story on the plight of furniture dealers having to separate pieces of sets for the new tax appears inside today's Press-Record.

Furniture dealers accused the city of attempting to drive business to the larger St. Louis furniture stores and indicated that they may support a new legal challenge to the city's sales tax.

Dan Linder, owner and manager of Tratlert's Clothing Store, told the Merchants

Press-Record that he is involved in efforts to challenge the tax, but is not spearheading it. He said he was the merchant who talked to Alderman Saltich about the possible challenge. "I have known Steve a number of years and I felt somebody on the council should be aware of it," Linder said.

"I am in sympathy with the financial problems of the city, but, at this point, I am not convinced a sales tax is the only alternative, he said, adding, "I have no desire to create any embarrassment for the city administration or any individual alderman."

"I realize it could be embarrassing to twice have a situation (the tax) reversed on them (in court) and I realize they have problems in solving their financial difficulties, but I am with (others) in challenging the constitutionality of the sales tax," Linder concluded.

Job service

said he has not received official notification of the close here, but said if the office in Granite City is cut he does not know where welfare recipients could go for services. He said his WIN center services all of Madison County.

The program employs 19 workers and has been in operation since 1968. Dunn said the office provides on-the-job training for clients including paying for tuition to prepare clients for careers as automobile mechanics, welders, licensed practical nurses and clerical jobs.

The director said the WIN program has been successful in placing those people in jobs after training. Dunn said the most valuable service WIN provides is employment that will result in lessened welfare payments. According to the director, for each dollar spent on the WIN program $2.50 are eventually saved. The WIN program saved the state $40 million in welfare payments last year.

Fire protection still in question

Although the deadline for fire protection to East Madison and Cloverleaf areas, which are in Nameoki Township, by the Madison Fire Department is Sunday at midnight, Harry Briggs, township supervisor, said that he expects a decision from the Illinois Fire Marshal's office today or Friday, assigning the area to a fire district.

The State Fire Marshal may assign either Long Lake or State Park fire departments to cover the East Madison or Cloverleaf areas.

Since Madison is a city the fire marshal can not assign MFD to respond.

Madison served notice to the NT board of supervisors, several weeks ago, that as of midnight Sunday, Jan. 31, the MFD would cease answering fire calls to that area.

Madison has maintained that they are owed at least $20,000 in unpaid fire calls to the East Madison and Cloverleaf areas, dating back to the early 1970's.

Madison does have signed fire protection contracts with some business places in the area.

Madison fire department will respond in the area only after the assigned fire department is on the scene and needs assistance, according to a MFD spokesman.

Concern has been expressed by some citizens of the area in question that the length of time, (estimated to be at least 15 minutes) it will take for either State Park or Long Lake to respond to a fire call, and possible effects of insurance in the area.

MFD charges $500 per call which they maintain does not really meet all costs.

Madison city officials stated they feel calls to the East Madison and Cloverleaf areas are an unfair burden to Madison taxpayers.

Chouteau seniors urged to apply for Homestead aid

All senior citizens living in Chouteau Township who became 65 years-of-age before Jan. 1, 1982, are urged to sign application for Homestead Exemptions if they own the property in which they reside. This pertains to either husband or wife who reached the 65-year age by this date.

Applications will be taken through February at the Chouteau Township Assessor's Office located in the Chouteau Township office building, Rural Route No. 2, Box 697A North Thorgate Drive, Mitchell (located at rear of the Midwest Motel).

"If you have not received our application form from the assessor yet, call Marion Sparks, assessor or phone 931-1136 for an appointment to receive assistance with the application," a spokesman said.

History of Venice told

Margaret Painter gave an informative presentation on the early history of Venice at the Venice Good Neighbors meeting.

It was learned that many prominent individuals played an important part in the development of this early settlement, originally called Old Six Mile.

She brought out that in the 1800's the Main Street was an important business area, originally called the National Way, providing a resting place for covered wagons as they continued westward after ferrying across the Mississippi River.

Several children from the community were also present and provided a question and answer period.

The next meeting will be held at the Social Club on Monday, March 1, with the public invited.

Mike Biason saves man's life on plane

Training that Michael "Mike" Biason received as a Long Lake volunteer firefighter proved valuable Monday as the Granite City man saved a fellow passenger's life on a Trans World Airline flight.

Biason used cardiopulmonary resuscitation to aid a man who had suffered a heart attack during a flight from St. Louis toward San Francisco.

There was no apparent pulse after the man was stricken. Stewards were unable to find a doctor or nurse among the passengers, and Biason offered to help revive him.

When the plane made an unscheduled stop at Las Vegas to enable the man to be rushed to a hospital, paramedics who boarded the airliner credited the local resident with saving the ailing man's life.

Biason resides at 2508 E. 27th St. with his wife, Sharon.

Associated with the Harlan Corp., he sells material handling equipment, including forklifts and the vehicles utilized to move airplanes on the ground. The trip to the West Coast was on behalf of his employer.

TWA moved him to first-class accommodations for the remainder of the flight, paid his plane fare and gave him two bottles of champagne in appreciation for his timely rescue work.

Mrs. Biason told the Press-Record it has been six or seven years since her husband learned CPR but that he remembered enough of it to succeed in saving the man.

He also is a former certified diver for emergency assistance groups.

GC park post to Dave Nolan

David Nolan, administrative assistant to Mayor Paul Schuler, has been selected the successor of Harold Brown, Granite City director of parks and recreation.

In a split 4-1 vote by the president casting the no vote, park commissioners appointed Nolan to the newly created temporary position of assistant to the director of parks and recreation until the retirement of Brown on April 30.

Commissioners have given Nolan three weeks to leave his office with the city and assume his park responsibilities. Reached yesterday, Nolan said he had not been officially notified of his appointment but would accept the position if it is offered.

Nolan served as a Granite City Park District Commissioner until his resignation from the board last June. He was elected to a six-year term on the board in April 1979.

Prior to his appointment as the mayor's assistant in August 1979, Nolan served as an engineer technician with the Granite City Engineering Department.

Nolan is a native and lifelong resident of the city and had been employed by the park district for seven years, starting as a lifeguard at Wilson Park pool in 1969. He was promoted to pool manager in 1974, and to ice rink manager in 1976.

Other jobs held with the park district during his park employment included maintenance, security and recreational activities. He also assisted the park superintendent with the Bicentennial celebration. In addition to working with the district, Nolan has participated in many of its recreational programs.

Park Board President George Sykes, casting the only vote against Nolan, issued a statement Wednesday explaining his decision. Sykes read the statement to the board in closed session at the park meeting.

Although the position of assistant to the director is by board vote, the appointment of director at the board's organization meeting on May 5 will be the decision of the board's president. Sykes said if he is reappointed to the services they best provide, I want a full-time director, devoted to the development of our parks and betterment of our current programs. I hope Dave will fulfill this requirement."

While Sykes said he thought Nolan would bring administrative strength to the board, the president said Nolan does not have a recreational background.

Sykes said his two main objections for voting no was Nolan's current involvement with the downtown redevelopment project and the board president's desire to more extensively interview two of the other seven major candidates.

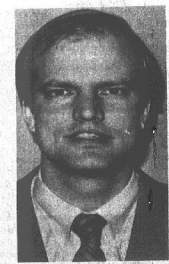

The board had solicited candidates applications since last fall and had conducted interviews of approximately 45 minutes each with seven candidates of their choice.

"There has been a great deal of press coverage recently regarding Dave's involvement with the revitalization of (the) downtown Granite City project. He has been quoted as indicating he would like to see some participation by the park district."

"We would all like to see our downtown revitalized and myself, as one commissioner feel the park district is always ready to work with any organization or work government unit... (however)... I do not wish to see us change directions and get involved in functions which are the responsibility of their taxing bodies," Sykes wrote.

"The Granite City Park District and other government units, have to remain independent of one another, cooperating where mutually beneficial, but each sticking to the services they best provide. I want a full-time director, devoted to the development of our parks and betterment of our current programs. I hope Dave will fulfill this requirement."

Sykes stated he hoped that by the reorganizational meeting this May, "Dave will have hopefully

DAVID NOLAN
Brown's successor

demonstrated his value to the park district."

As temporary assistant director, Nolan will assist the current director and will receive a salary of $20,000 for the next 15 months.

Vital statistics show stability in Madison County

Considering how rapidly things seem to change in today's society, sometimes it is surprising to look back and see how the "vital" things seldom change.

The annual "vital statistics" report released by Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles Tuesday showed a great deal of consistency in the number of births, deaths and marriages in the county. For example, there were 3,532 babies born in the county in 1981 while 3,515 new arrivals were reported in 1980; only 17 fewer.

There also were 17 fewer deaths last year in the county as 2,086 persons died in Madison County, compared to 2,115 in 1980.

Marriage remains a popular institution, the statistics show, as 2,716 couples tied the knot last year, down only slightly from the 2,767 married in 1980.

Even the little things showed great similarities. The number of pairs of twins born in 1980 was 30 while last year, there were 31 pairs of twins born in the county.

Of those who chose to be married, 2,440 chose to be wed by ministers or priests in 1980, compared to 2,411 who chose the religious ceremonies last year. Another 399 couples were wed by judges in the county in 1980, compared to 312 in the same manner the year before.

Six couples were wed by military chaplains last year, compared to 14 the year before, and there were no ceremonies by a Jewish rabbi in Madison County last year, compared to one in 1980, Miss Bowles reported.

In both years, there were more marriages in Granite City than in any other city in Madison County. A total of 584 couples were wed here last year, down from 608 in the previous year. Madison also showed consistency in weddings with 72 couples married last year, compared to 73 in 1980. In Venice, one couple took the vows during 1981, down from 16 in 1980.

A breakdown of the various vital statistics follows.

Ryan reaffirms support of fairs in Illinois

Speaking at Springfield to the Illinois Association of Agricultural Fairs, House Speaker George Ryan (R-Kankakee) reaffirmed his support of local fair programs by saying "Illinois is one of our nation's leading agricultural states and as one would expect from a leader, our agricultural fairs are among the best in the nation."

"Our fairs emphasize participation by the youth of our state," Ryan said. "We encourage and support their efforts on the state level through contributions to underwrite the costs of local fairs. Our modest investment reaps a rich reward in youngsters provided greater stimulation to pursue agricultural activities." Ryan told the conference of county fair board members and other fair officials that their work had produced fairs that "play the primary role in keeping alive so many aspects of our rural American heritage. They offer a wide spectrum of educational opportunities in the agricultural, cultural, scientific, industrial and commercial areas."

"It is more important than ever to make sure farmers' needs remain high on the government's agenda," the Kankakee Republican said. "Less than three generations ago, one out of every three Americans lived on a farm. Today only one out of every 57 lives on the farm. Each farmer today has assumed the responsibility for providing food and fiber for himself and 56 other Americans. "Although our present farm population represents just 2.7 percent of the total U.S. population, over 43 percent of the nation's cash receipts are realized from farming."

"County fairs are an important link in the educational process that keeps our agricultural industry vibrant. Through the fair process, they gain knowledge about advances in every possible subject—from seed development to animal husbandry. They learn how to cope with the ever changing nature of challenges facing farmers, and they contribute to preserving our pride in farming's achievements over the years."

"America's farmers are the first in the world and Illinois' farmers are the finest in America."

After Ryan's speech, the organization selected Vicki Johnson, 19, as the 1982 Miss Illinois County Fair Queen. Ryan presented the crown to Miss Johnson, a Springfield native attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville as a theater major.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Gunning

Mel Gunnings mark 25 years

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Gunning, 4662 Stearns Ave., celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at a buffet dinner and dance, Sunday, hosted at the Eagle Aerie Hall, 2556 Madison Ave.

Guests were received by the honorees from 1 to 6 p.m. Mr. Gunning and his wife, Lela, were married on Jan. 14, 1957, in Tulsa, Okla. They are the parents of seven children and also have 15 grandchildren.

Mr. Gunning is general manager of I.S. Joseph Co., Inc. He and his wife enjoyed a trip to the West Coast during the holidays, as an anniversary observance.

Former residents announce 1st child

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wills of Biloxi, Miss., are announcing the birth of their first child, a boy, who weighed eight pounds, three ounces.

He has been named Charles Richard. Mrs. Wills is the former Debbie Ann Votoupal, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Votoupal, of Granite City, and Joe Votoupal of Madison.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clapcocks of Biloxi.

Party marks 90th birthday

William Thomas Quinn, a Quad-City resident for 89 years, recently celebrated his 90th birthday at a surprise party hosted by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David L. (Dolores) Bourisaw, at their home, 3235 Classic Drive, Florissant, Mo.

Born in Venice on New Year's Eve in 1891, Mr. Quinn and his family, including his mother, Mrs. William T. (Anne R.) Quinn Sr., a widow, and three sisters, all of whom are deceased, moved to Granite City at the turn of the century.

Mr. Quinn still has vivid recollections of his family's narrow escape during the great flood in 1904 which inundated whole sections of Granite City, especially the West Granite area where the Quinns resided.

He also remembers attending the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904 and seeing President Teddy Roosevelt. At one time he lived in the last house in Granite City, which was in the 2400 block of Edison Avenue, according to his daughter.

Mr. Quinn remained a resident of Granite City until a year ago when he moved to 1345 Northgarden Apartments in Spanish Lake, Mo.

At the birthday dinner party, the honored guest received several gifts and many well wishes from friends.

Mr. Quinn is the grand-

Secretaries to meet at hospital

The next monthly meeting of the Tri-Cities Chapter of Professional Secretaries International will be held on Thursday, Feb. 4. The meeting will begin with a tour of St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 7 p.m. The tour, which was arranged by Gayle Donnelly of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, will begin in the main lobby of the hospital. The business meeting will immediately follow the tour in a meeting room, at the facility.

During the month of December, the members hosted a Christmas party for the Madison County Shelter Care Home. Also during December, members secured volunteers to collect for the March of Dimes.

If you are a local secretary and would like to attend one of the meetings, contact Kathy Smith, membership chairman, at 344-6172.

Shower honors Mrs. Terry Heck

Mrs. Terry Heck was complimented at a cradle shower given, Sunday afternoon, by Pat Sansoucie, Linda Ahlers and Mrs. June Becherer at the latter's home, 3314 Wilshire Drive. Pink and blue decorations depicting infant items centered the serving and gift tables. After the honoree opened her gifts games were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Patty Heck, Miss Cheryl Zinsinger and Mrs. JoAnn Hoch.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to those named and to Mesdames Cecelia Heck, Bonnie Britton, JoAnn Butkovich, Myrtle Hoch, Marge Black, Jan Bain and daughter Heather, Donna Tindall, Eva Johnson and Miss Sharon Heck, Carrie Heck and Chrissy Heck, daughter of the guest of honor.

Eta Chapter to attend events

A combination business and dinner meeting was held by the Eta Chapter of Phi Tau Omega Sorority, last week, at Charles' Restaurant.

The president, Kathryn Weddell was in charge of the business meeting. Tentative plans were made to attend the Founder's Day party in Springfield, Ill., in March. The National Convention will be held in Topeka, Kan., the weekend of June 12th.

Dinner was served to 13 members, and prizes were won by Dolores Sheridan, Ann Tatum, Eunice Hatcher, Dorothy Costello and Martha Ruth Thomas. Hostesses were Lorraine Butler, Hilda Schroeder, and Kathryn Weddell.

GC Jr. Service plans dinner and election

A nominating committee was appointed and plans for a progressive dinner finalized at a monthly meeting of the Granite City Junior Service Club held at the Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Brenda Weckman, president, opened the session and presented the traveling apron to Joan Wachter for this month, who in turn will give the article to Paula Weaver for the month of February. The in-club project net profits which are used for charitable programs throughout the year.

During the business segment Schnuck's receipts were collected and a review of the annual club Christmas dinner party was given by the president.

In discussing plans for future events, Mrs. Gale McGarland reported on tentative plans for another Christmas project, and arrangements for a couples night out. Mrs. Weaver is in charge of the progressive dinner which is hosted by the club for members and their husbands, it was announced.

An Easter egg hunt for the children of club members is planned for April 3, according to Linda Gordon and Kathy Mitchell, co-chairman of the event.

Also a probe party for prospective members will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 23, with Linda Badger and Sarah Repp serving as hostesses. They said the party theme will be "little girl" and those attending are to select and wear attire in keeping with the theme.

Mrs. Weckman appointed past presidents, Faith Holinger, Gale McFarland, Donna Sprinkle, Pam Reed and Flora Mae Lensing, to serve on a nominating committee. They are to present a slate of officers for election at the next session.

The president also noted that 18 handmade Christmas stockings for newborn infants at St. Elizabeth Medical Center were distributed in December.

Mrs. Karen Niebur led a discussion on a new Easter and spring event which the club will undertake this year. Final arrangements will be announced later, she added.

The homemade article, created by Wilma Eddington, was won by JoEllis Harris. Others attending were Becky Sertich, Debbie McMullen, Betty Nighohossian, Donna McBride, Rose Ann Bates, Sue Riess, Donna Palovic and a guest, JoAnn Waymire.

Chapter HT marks Founder's Day

Founder's Day, marking the 113 anniversary of the P.E.O. Sisterhood, was observed at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, by members of Chapter HT.

Mrs. Marie Gordon, hostess for the event, greeted members and guests and later introduced members continued to depict the seven founders of the organization.

They performed a skit noting the Sisterhood was officially started on Jan. 21, 1869, and Chapter HT was organized on Nov. 2, 1951.

Those participating in the entertainment were Pat Mers Susan Morgan, Marge Pennell, Lee Suarez, Jan Kohl, Gail Miosky and Faith Holinger.

During the business session, a note of thanks were read from Marilyn Lager, Illinois State treasurer, for donations by Chapter HT to the special projects of P.E.O., which includes the Educational Fund, Continuing Education Fund, Coitice College and the International Peace Scholarship.

In other business Nina Marshman reported the Lulu Corkhill Williams Peace Scholarship Fund, sponsored by P.E.O., offers assistance to P.E.O. members for rent, medical needs, emergency bills to those who are in need of financial aid.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Jewell Backs. It was reported.

Others attending were Helen Stover, Mary Miller, Helen Bales, Betty Mathias, Pat Konzen, Dorothy Kerch and Judy Dailey.

ONE OF THE FEW THINGS THAT MULTIPLIES FASTER THAN AN ILLINI RETIREMENT ACCOUNT.

When you put your green away in an Illini Federal IRA it really grows by leaps and bounds.

For example, if you're now 25 and you deposit $2,000 into your account each year and get 12% interest, when you reach age 65 you'll have $2,130,025 to retire with.

It adds up so fast because neither your investment nor the interest is taxable until you start withdrawing the money.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan

Morgan-Peterson

City Temple Assembly of God Church was the scene of the wedding on Day 23 of Miss Linda Rayleen Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Bonita Peterson, Rural Route One, Granite City, and Quentin Peterson of St. Louis, and Robert Paul Morgan, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Morgan of Maryville, Ill.

The Rev. A. E. Cope and the Rev. Morgan performed a double ring ceremony at 6:00 in the evening, before an altar decorated with arrangements of winter flowers and burning tapers in tall candelabra.

Nuptial selections included, "Annie's Song," "The Wedding Song," "The Rose," and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Danny Dahm presided at the piano and also sang with Patti Crockerell and Mrs. William Campbell.

For her wedding, the bride chose a formal white gown fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice, etched with pearls, long sleeves and a square neckline.

The bouffant skirt was created with tiers of ruffles which extended into a chapel train.

She wore a lace wide brim "Aussie" style hat with a veil attached to the back and she held an arrangement of orchids, lily of the valley, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Sisters of the bride, Mrs. Daniel Wofford and Mrs. Richard Grogan, served as honor attendant and bridesmaid with Mrs. James Morgan, a sister-in-law of the groom, another bridesmaid.

They were gowning in floor length orchid dresses complemented with matching short sleeved jackets.

Each attendant wore a halo of baby's breath in their hair and held bouquets to coordinate their attire.

Jennifer and Jamie Morgan, a niece and nephew of the groom, served as flower girl and ringbearer, respectively. She wore an off white frock trimmed with orchid ribbon.

Robin and Richard Grogan, a niece and nephew of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid and groomsmen. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Rodney Flood and Mrs. Dave Brown.

The groom chose his brother, James Morgan, as best man.

Ken Oberkell, Loren Ankarlo, Joe York, Dave Wood and Mark Valesano, a cousin of the groom, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Guests were received at a reception held in the Granite City Township Hall, immediately following the service. The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Burn's Cafeteria.

A graduate of Granite City High School, the bride is employed at Red Lobster in St. Louis. The groom works as a carpenter and was graduated from Collinsville High School.

Gospel concert at Dewey Ave. Church

A gospel concert, featuring the Knock-Abouts, has been re-scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 30, at 7 p.m. at Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church, 22nd Street and Dewey Avenue, according to the Rev. Ray Kelley, host pastor.

Members of the group are brothers, Randy, Dan, Terry and Rod Knock. They cancelled concerts in Wood River and Godfrey last weekend due to the death of their grandmother in Nebraska. Following the funeral services they were caught in the blizzard which hit the Nebraska area and they were unable return here for the program originally set for Sunday evening, the minister explained.

The four brothers started singing in 1969 and in 1980, they went on their first extensive tour through Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Missouri. At this time, they recorded their first album entitled, "He'll Send a Miracle."

They have given up their employment and are involved in full time ministry, at the present time.

The public is welcome to attend, admission free, but a free will offering will be received, Rev. Kelley added.

Angela Sanchez celebrated her third birthday at a party given during the weekend by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sanchez of 304 Sunny Shores.

A Muppets theme was used for the appointments. Cake and coffee was served after the honoree opened her gifts.

Guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Besserman and Mrs. Dolores Mena, grandparents, and Adam Sanchez, brother of the guest of honor.

Also Craig, Mary, and Christopher Billner, Lu Platz, Diane and Jared Boston, Steve, Suzanne and Cindy Kaiser and Barbara and Cara Tegel.

Tax breaks now, when you need them

An IRA provides two big tax benefits. Your tax-deferred annual contributions are deductible from your current before-tax income. And, likewise, taxes on IRA earnings are deferred until you retire. Then, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket and pay much less in actual tax dollars as you withdraw the money. Who can't use tax breaks like those?

More income in retirement

Whether you're 30 or 55, opening your own IRA is one of the smartest investments you can make. As you can see, you'll have more for retirement and realize a substantial tax benefits, now. Stop in soon and open your own IRA.

How an IRA grows

Mrs. Gordon reviews book at Coterie meet

Program Chairman Mrs. G. E. Filcoff introduced Mrs. John Gordon who reviewed the book, "My Story" by Ingrid Bergman and co-authored by Alan Burgess, at a meeting of the Ladies Coterie.

After the book review, Mrs. Filcoff played two violin solos, accompanied by Mrs. Jack Cormier. The selections included, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," written by Clarence Cameron White and arranged by Fritz Kreisler, and an Italian madrigal composed by A. Simonetti.

Preceding the business meeting, Mrs. Fred Werner served a dessert luncheon to members and two guests, Mrs. Mildred Hess of Granite City, and Mrs. Merlin Hiscot of Peotwater, Mich., a former club member.

Mrs. Lyndell Hagaman conducted the meeting in the parlors of the First United Presbyterian Church. The club collect was given by Mrs. W. G. Cooley and Mrs.

Louis Meek led the pledge of allegiance.

A workshop on parliamentary procedures will be held on March 17 in Highland, with the Highland Romans Club and the Highland Junior Women's Club serving as hostesses, it was announced.

Classes will be conducted by Mrs. James Seagraves of Belleville, a registered certified professional parliamentarian, who also is a past president of the General Federation of Club Women.

The president noted the Feb. 18 meeting will be hosted by Mrs. Dawson Wade at the church, and Mrs. James Fox will arrange for the program.

William Fritzsche and Mary Bushong

Fritzsche-Bushong

The engagement of Miss Mary J. Bushong and William A. Fritzsche, 524 Weybridge Drive, San Jose, Calif., is being announced by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Marjorie Bushong, 3809 Village Lane Apts.

Parents of the prospective groom are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fritzsche, 46 Carnation Drive, Collinsville.

The betrothed couple to be married on Oct. 2 at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Collinsville.

Miss Bushong is employed as an office clerk at Jack Mathew's Chevrolet. She graduated from North High School in 1978 and is attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

where she will graduate in August of this year with a Bachelor of Science degree in Social Work. She also is the secretary of the Student Social Work Association.

The groom-elect was graduated from Collinsville High School in 1976 and from DeVry Institute of Technology, Chicago, in 1979 with a Bachelor of Science degree in electronics. He is working as a senior systems test specialist at Fairchild Test Systems in San Jose, and is a member of the St. Louis Ski Club.

In 1978 he won first place in the category of electronics in the Vocational-Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) at the state of Illinois.

'GC homemakers study Illinois tax system

The state and local tax systems in Illinois was the subject of a major lesson presented by Judy Baker and Arla Ault for members of the Creative Women Unit, Madison County Homemakers Extension Association.

Unit members met in the home of Mrs. Joanna Spencer, 3204 Newell Drive, for the session.

Among the topics discussed were principles of taxation, public expenditures, federal tax system, Illinois state government tax system, Illinois expenditures, Illinois local government tax system, local government revenue, local government expenditures.

Also property taxation in Illinois, operation of the property tax, equalization, and school aid.

Mrs. Ault, president, then conducted the business segment and requested reports be submitted by the secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Martha Leavelle distributed program books for the year and explained dates of meetings and monthly topics.

The president gave a review of the projects, programs and activities of the 58ers 4-H Club, which the unit sponsors.

A spring workshop will be held in Edwardsville on stained glass and tin punch on March 30, it was noted. The major lesson for February will relate to Swiss Cookery and will be given by Belinda Hoffman and Mickey Strack on Feb. 15. Mrs. Strack will host the gathering.

A recreation hour was conducted by Mrs. Spencer in which refreshments served to Gale Klee, Judy Prokes, Karen Nelson, Diane Gebhardt, Gene Zinn, and those named.

First child for Kenneth Messinas

Andrew Nicholas is the name selected by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Messina of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, for their first child born on Jan. 19.

The new arrival was born at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville, and weighed six pounds, five and one-half ounces.

Mrs. Messina is the former Judy Balcer. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jess Messina and Mrs. Bessie Balcer, all of Granite City.

DANCE CONCERT AT SUE OPENS TONIGHT

The bi-annual student dance concert at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, "Opus 82," will be performed tonight, Friday and Saturday at 8:15 in the Communications Building theater. Dance students from the Carbondale campus will also perform in concert.

Parking will be available behind the building during the performances. Ticket information and reservations may be obtained by telephoning 692-2773 or 692-2320.

Free counseling service offered

The University of Illinois will offer a free counseling service for its students, alumni and interested citizens in Southwest Illinois. Professor Boyd Jackson will be available in Belleville to offer counseling assistance for such diverse concerns as clarification of personal and career goals, vocational interests and concerns, mid-career and mid-life anxieties and other personal growth areas.

This public service activity, which is offered for all who feel they might benefit, is available the evenings of March 2, 30 and April 27. For more information or to schedule an appointment, persons contact Charles Evans or Lillian Aelsmeier at the University of Illinois Regional Office. The phone number is (618) 255-3980.

Prenatal classes set Feb. 16

Prenatal instruction classes for the early pregnancy and prepared childbirth sessions, under the auspices of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, will start with the first class scheduled for Feb. 16.

The five week series on prepared childbirth for women who are six months pregnant to delivery will be held on Tuesday or Wednesday nights from 6:30 to 8:30 at McKinley School.

Classes are set for Feb. 16, 23, and March 2, 9, and 16 on Tuesday nights, and Feb. 17, 24, and March 13, 10, and 27 on Wednesday nights.

Instructors include Sue Telloff, Laura Berman, Karen Baum, Cathy Conley, and Cindy Johnson, all registered nurses in the maternity department.

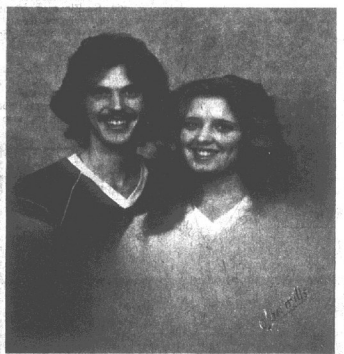

They will speak on preparation for labor and delivery using topics, breathing and relaxation techniques, labor and delivery, and analgesics in labor, tour of the obstetrics department, introduction to baby care and breastfeeding information.

The early pregnancy class, organized for women in the less than six months period of pregnancy, will be conducted in three consecutive sessions on Thursday evenings only, from 6:30 to 8:30.

These classes also will be conducted at McKinley School under the direction of Diane Hudson, RN.

She will present information on body conditioning (exercise), nutrition, breast, and dieting, body changes in pregnancy, and fetal development.

To register for either class, those interested are advised to call the obstetrics department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 798-3000. There is no fee for those who will deliver at the Granite City medical facility, but there is a $25 charge for those who plan to deliver at another hospital, according to a class instructor.

Timothy Schinker and Karen Scanlan

Schinker-Scanlan

Announcement is being made of the betrothal of Miss Karen Ann Scanlan and Timothy L. Schinker, by the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Scanlan, 2416 St. Clair Ave.

Parents of the groom-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Schinker, reside at 935 Kingsbrook Lane, Florissant, Mo.

Miss Scanlan is a 1979 graduate of Granite City High School South and attended Belleville Area College. She is now employed as a procurement clerk for Defense Contract Administration Services Region, St. Louis.

Her fiancé, a 1979 graduate of North County Technical High School, has worked two years as a junior draftsman in St. Louis County and is working part-time for Central Parking Systems.

The engaged couple are completing plans for an Oct. 8 wedding to be solemnized at St. Sabina Catholic Church, Florissant.

It deals with the living and not the dead at Jonestown.

The film tells about people with religious backgrounds such as most of these people had, and how they get involved with cults such as the People's Temple.

Rev. Luther Abbott, pastor at Bethesda, encourages people to attend the film.

He said, "Deceived" is a gospel film that will be shown at Bethesda Baptist Church, 3035 Nameoki Drive, at 7 p.m. on Jan. 31.

"Deceived" is a film about the people who defected or left Jim Jones and the People's Temple.

Final plans were also announced for the progressive dinner set for Saturday night.

The business presented a program and later served refreshments to Helen Hall, Terri Davis, Judy Barlet, Barbara Hensle, Carolyn Walsh, Cookie White, Jane Carbone, and Anastasia Elbore.

Mrs. Bartel invited the group to meet in her home for the Feb. 18 session.

Expect Reagan's tax program to aid Illinois businesses

Illinois business executives expect President Reagan's tax relief program to have a favorable impact on their own companies, on the Illinois economy, and on the nation's industrial recovery.

Findings of a survey of Illinois business firms, commissioned by Sentry Insurance for the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, show the largest expected impact is from the capital cost recovery (accelerated depreciation) provisions of the Reagan tax package. Fully half the respondents rank this in first place, and 77 percent expect some effect on their companies.

The survey results, released at a news conference in ISCC's Chicago headquarters, are based on a detailed study by Central Surveys of 1,383 members of the statewide business organization on the impact of President Reagan's tax cut plan.

Some 31 percent of responding companies said they expect to invest in plant modernization and 29 percent in new plant in the next 24 months. Many provided specific dollar estimates, which project to nearly $2 billion in new or modernized plant within the next two years.

In addition, 34 percent expect more employment and only 3 percent anticipate less. Those giving specific estimates project a net increase of about 68,000 additional jobs.

Other survey highlights: —Increased new product development is anticipated by 28 percent of Illinois executives, while 19 percent expect more research.

—36 percent name greater productivity as an expected result on their own companies.

—By a 50 to 27 margin, the respondents expect more impact from direct rather than indirect forms of tax relief.

—Nine of 10 businesses expect to be effected by some part of the tax plan.

—By a big ratio of 7 to 9 percent, business people predict less inflation as an effect on the Illinois economy.

—Lower interest rates are expected by 69 percent.

—Industrial recovery is named by 66 percent as an expected result of increased take-home pay.

—Increased demand for goods and services, a result of the gradual increase in take-home pay, is predicted by 68 percent.

—The results clearly show that businesses of all types and sizes plan to put these tax savings to productive use which, in the long-term, will materially benefit the Illinois economy," said ISCC President Lester W. Brann Jr.

The reactions of business people in the survey also show us they have faith in the President's efforts to revitalize the nation's economy and they want to see his proposals carried out to their fullest extent by Congress.

"We are pleased that Illinois was chosen for this study, since our state represents a typical northern industrial state which will directly benefit from incentives the President proposes, leading directly to the creation of new jobs through capital investments by business in this state."

Reviewing the survey's optimistic findings, Sentry Vice President William M. Patchett of Aurora said: "We are proud of Illinois' business people for the job they are about to do in helping put America back to work."

A moment of silence followed in memory of past member and officer Mary Bridick.

Auxiliary reviews '81

A review of the 1981 activities of the Madison City and Democratic Auxiliary was given last week by Mrs. Zella Niehaus, president.

The group met at the Madison Recreation Center. The meeting opened with members pledging allegiance to the flag and Chaplain Elizabeth Yankoff led the group in the Lord's Prayer.

A moment of silence followed in memory of past member and officer Mary Bridick.

Mrs. Niehaus have a full report of all activities for the year 1981 with each project's total financial result. She was commended by the members for an excellent year's work.

Mayor Mike Sasyk stopped by during the meeting and introduced Andy Economy to the group. Economy is running for committeeman in Ward 8 and asked for any support or help the ladies could give him.

Mrs. Catherine Hakkarainen introduced her guest, Sarah Vancil. Hostesses in February will be Billie Bosworth, Sophie Derner and Mary Ann Bathon. Hostesses Mary Cromer, Mary Bucherich and Mollie Besserman served refreshments to the following: Maxine Custoff, Angela Vavra, Sophie Derner, Sophia Dulko, Mary Rogensak, Sadie Wojcik, Winnie Sasyk, Julie Goclan, Christine Green, Judy Donaldson, Pam Dymas, Connie Almos, Cindy Heady, Dollie Smith, Helen Knezevich, Billie Bosworth, Rose Martyniuk, Joan Wilkins, Catherine Hakkarainen, Irma Manning, LeVerna Harris, Sarah Vancil, Blondie Dillon, Ida Dant, Elizabeth Yankoff.

SEMC pacemaker clinic offers EKGs by phone

Combining skilled medical training and electronic wizardry, St. Elizabeth's Medical Center's Pacemaker Clinic provides cost efficient check-ups that are as convenient as dialing a telephone.

According to Kathy Thompson, RN, of the clinic, patients admitted to the medical center for pacemaker insertion are discharged with a portable home transmitter unit, provided at no cost to the patient by the pacemaker manufacturer.

The transmitter unit, about the size of a transistor radio, is equipped with two finger-tip electrodes that slip onto a finger of each hand like a ring. Powered by a 9-volt battery, the unit picks up electrical impulses generated by the patient's heart and converts them into a high-pitched sound.

Following an arranged schedule, a nurse from the clinic telephones the patient on a regular basis, once a week or once a month. The patient turns on the transmitter and places the telephone mouthpiece over the transmitter speaker.

The nurse places the clinic phone in a cradle on top of a receiver that "listens" to the patient's heart and converts the sound into electrical impulses that are printed out on an electrocardiogram. Clinic personnel then study the EKG to see that the pacemaker is functioning properly.

Because pacemaker batteries and pacemakers themselves wear out and need replacement, these regular check-ups provide a safety factor; signs of wear are detected before the situation becomes serious enough to endanger the patient.

The clinic charge is $40 per call, considerably less than a patient would pay for an EKG and a physician's office visit. Unlike doctor's office visits and out-patient EKG's, the clinic fee is covered by Medicare.

Another advantage of the Pacemaker Clinic is that it is a 24-hour service. If a patient feels that something is wrong, he or she can call the clinic at any hour, transmit an EKG and find out quickly if there is any problem with the pacemaker. Kathy Thompson adds that older people feel more secure knowing they have this service and that it is a real convenience for those who have difficulty getting around, because they can get a check-out without leaving their home.

She emphasizes the fact that people do not have to have pacemakers inserted at SEMC to take advantage of the clinic's services. "Whether a person has had a pacemaker for years or just had one put in at another hospital, their doctor can refer them to us for follow-up." Referring physicians are informed immediately if there is a problem, if things are progressing normally, they receive a monthly written report on their patient from the clinic.

People do not have to be residents of Granite City to use the clinic. The quality of telephone transmission makes it possible to get good tracings from patients in Alton, Edwardsville, Collinsville or Belleville.

Kathy Thompson says that telephone transmission of EKG's is useful for patients with other cardiac problems. Patients who complain of "palpitations," for example, can be sent home with a transmitter unit and can call the clinic when they experience this problem and have their EKG read.

For more information about SEMC's Pacemaker Clinic, call 798-3305.

Two injured in truck-car crash

Two moving and three parked vehicles were involved in an accident last week at Nameoki Road and East 23rd Street, when a tractor-trailer and an auto collided at the intersection.

Timothy L. Beardsley, 26, of Sheridan, Ill., told police he was traveling north on Nameoki Road when his tractor-trailer collided with a station wagon, driven by Georgia L. Borger, 27, of East 23rd.

Beardsley said he was unable to stop and lost control of the truck, which left the roadway, hitting a sign and two utility poles. The poles fell and damaged three vehicles parked in a vacant used car lot at 2310 Nameoki Road.

A power line attached to one pole went under the bumper of a parked 1980 Ford, owned by Charles Parker, 29, Eduardo Drive, causing the vehicle to turn over on its left side.

Other parked vehicles damaged in the mishap are owned by Diane Schwendemann, 2249 Lee Ave., and Tony Bicker, 2530 Parkway Drive.

Both Beardsley and Mrs. Borger were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Higher phone connection charges approved by ICC

The Illinois Commerce Commission has approved increases in service establishing and connection charges for Illinois Bell customers. At the same time, the commission approved an option that would allow almost all residential customers and most small business customers to install telephone wiring in their homes or buildings. They also could continue to have Illinois Bell install the inside wiring.

The company's request to sell customer convenience wiring products to help customers do their own inside wiring also became effective last month.

These convenience products will make it easier for people to install their own wiring," said William H. Springer, Illinois Bell executive vice-president of Finance. "At a time when we are asking to bring in installation charges closer to the actual cost of doing the work, customers will have options to control their costs by doing some of the work themselves."

"Today's decision reflects the continuing trend toward telecommunications pricing based on actual costs. They also represent the increasing options available to our customers," he said. Springer added that "although the rates approved today fall short of our requested increases, the Commission did recognize that installation rates need to be increased to more fully recover the cost of the work."

In March 1981, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) ordered telephone companies nationwide to change the accounting method used in charging for the installation of new telephones and treat installation costs as current expenses, rather than capital expenditures. Illinois Bell filed increased installation and service connection prices to recover the costs of installing service directly from customers who move or change service.

Springer emphasized that today's decision would not increase the company's earnings or rate of return.

The customer convenience products approved by the Commission last month include telephone wire $6.95 per 50 feet, jacks $5.95 each, a wire stripper $3.95 and wire junction boxes $5.95 to $7.95. The products and instructions on how to use them will be available at Illinois Bell PhoneCenter Stores.

A customer who wants to add an additional jack could purchase a wire junction with a plug, telephone wire and a jack for $20.85. Under the installation charges approved by the ICC, the cost of having the company do it would be $49.50.

New charges for work done by the phone company are: service charge, $20; line connection charge, $13; premises visit charge, $9; outlet wiring charge (each outlet), $16, and jack charge (each jack), $4.50.

Customers doing their own work may connect their wiring to a network interface which Illinois Bell will install in new buildings or to a modular jack in existing buildings. Each wire junction enables customers to add additional jacks. At each phone location, modular jacks must be installed to connect the phone to the wiring.

"Installing your own wiring will help save money — particularly if you already have telephone service and want to add another phone jack in your home," Springer said.

Customers who install their own inside wiring must meet standards set by the Illinois Commerce Commission and all local building and electrical codes. Copies of the Commission standards and instructions on how to install wiring will be available in Illinois Bell's PhoneCenter Stores.

DEAN'S LIST AT IC

Decisive federal action on unfair imports from Japan, Europe essential to preserve domestic steel industry

With Granite City Steel the largest local employer, what affects it has a big impact on the Quad-Cities and the entire metropolitan area.

The steel import situation has grown increasingly serious and must be dealt with more effectively, the annual financial report by the parent firm, National Steel Corporation, makes clear. A portion of Monday's report follows:

"The steel and raw materials groups showed an operating profit for the year despite a loss in the fourth quarter."

"While steel shipments in 1981 were at virtually the same low level as in 1980, a modest operating profit was achieved in 1981, compared with a loss of over $100 million the previous year. This was the result of careful control of inventories and production, extensive cost reductions and aggressive marketing programs."

"Results for the year were dampened in the fourth quarter by the combined effects of the recession, a sharp decline in demand in imported steel. As a result, National's shipments in the fourth quarter declined to the lowest level for that period in a decade, and prices were heavily impacted by discounting."

"Unless imports are reduced significantly and soon, modernization programs for steel plants will be revised downward and there will be further unemployment."

"There should be no doubt in the minds of European steel producers as to the seriousness of their recent actions. There is no question that such violations of trade laws are causing injury to the domestic steel industry."

"We have a very strong case, which shows that many foreign steel producers are being supported by subsidies from their governments as much as $33 per ton—at the expense of the American steel industry and its steelworkers."

Those comments by National Steel Chairman Howard P. Love, a past president of the Granite City Steel Division, are not surprising in view of the sweeping nature of legal charges that were filed in Washington on Jan. 11.

Seven domestic producers submitted evidence of subsidized, unfairly priced steel imports received from producers in Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, West Germany, Brazil, South Africa, Spain and Romania.

But this spotlighting of what is happening will not be enough to halt it unless the federal government takes a stronger stand, perhaps including the imposition of duties on foreign steel to offset the subsidies.

Certainly, the U.S. trigger-price mechanism, setting floor prices for foreign steel sold here, has not stopped other countries from selling their steel below those prices; the mechanism lacks enforcement "teeth," prompting the current effort to obtain adjudication of unfair practices.

West Europeans are "stone-walling" the issue, saying they are limping along with only 50 to 60 percent of their steelmaking capacity and that they have no plans to reduce exports to the U.S. The outlook on this side of the Atlantic, unfortunately, is far more dawning by Uncle Sam.

The Commerce Department and U.S. International Trade Commission are likely to investigate the complaint, but may take several months to assemble their findings. Steelmakers, meanwhile, are pointing out that in the closing months of 1981, imports captured a record 20 percent-plus of the domestic market.

On the day the charges were filed, Bethlehem Steel Chairman Donald Trautlein said, "We've got to get something legally binding. The settlement of trade actions could produce something that is binding."

Proof of injury determines whether the Commerce Department can establish duties on foreign steel. It depends on the extent of injury (financial loss and unemployment) due to imports, as opposed to the extent due to weak demand.

In its effort to forestall formal charges and to appease Americans fearful of a "trade war" involving soybeans and other U.S. exports—Commerce this winter initiated a limited number of unfair-trade cases against seven countries. The Trade Commission made a preliminary study and said in December it believes imports from four nations have damaged U.S. producers.

As a result of the Jan. 11 charges, many European steel companies face "countervailing duty" investigations. Some are considering reprisals against U.S. retaliation if it occurs.

But Americans cannot ignore the problem. The investment banker, Money Forecasts, has just listed ten companies, including such well-known firms as RCA, ITT, Goodyear and Dow Chemical, as being currently vulnerable to bankruptcy if ten other companies, including National Steel, Sears and General Motors, as being subject to such vulnerability in the future.

Money Forecasts notes the firm's existing debt levels and says major credit sources like the bond market are collapsing; the Federal Reserve is neither willing nor able to pump up the money supply or hold down interest rates because of the danger of more inflation; and the present economic decline may be far more severe than expected because of government "defensiveness" spending cutbacks.

Meanwhile, as the European steel price controversy heats up, involving about half of the steel imports to this nation, imports from Japan represent a huge problem.

Sen. John Danforth of Missouri, chairman of the U.S. Senate's International Trade Subcommittee, was in Tokyo this month to address the Japanese Federation of Economic Organizations on U.S.-Japanese economic relations.

Calling for trade reciprocity, he said present "free trade" between the U.S. and Japan is largely a myth because of Japanese barriers to products, services and investment from other lands.

Danforth said in his talk, "Protection of the Japanese market is maintained in a variety of ways—some clearly intended, some not. Some of the barriers are obviously illegal but others may not be. Regardless of whether trade impediments are formal or informal, legal or illegal, the fact is that they work."

"The U.S. trade deficit with Japan rose from $10 billion in 1980 to $13½ billion in 1981 and is headed toward $25 billion in 1985," he said. "In 1980, due to lack of reciprocity of access between our markets. While Japan's market is closed, the American market has remained open."

Although Japan's foreign minister said Jan. 26 that some non-tariff barriers will be lifted, this action will be less than fully effective and will not apply to all products.

With this in mind, along with the Western European problem, it seems clear that the U.S. government must move decisively if American steel production is to be preserved—a concern that affects not only our economic well-being but also national and world defense.

On the day the charges were filed, Bethlehem Steel Chairman Donald

CHECK SUBSTANCE ON FOOD GIFT AT SUE

The Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) has been requested by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to investigate an incident at the university involving a gift of food. University officials said a suspicious substance was found last Thursday on a food item that had been placed in a faculty mailbox in the School of Science and Engineering.

The professor who received the package was suspicious of the appearance of the food and reported it to authorities.

School nurse a modern miracle of medical care

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following text was submitted for publication by the Granite City School District's nursing department. School Nurse Week is being observed throughout the country this week.

In observation of National School Nurse Week, the following excerpts seem appropriate, as taken from a paper entitled "In Praise of the School Nurse," written by Roger J. Meyer, MD, MPH, administrative director, Division of Health, Tacoma Public Schools, and professor, Health Care Services, University of Washington School of Public Health.

"Increasing costs, complexity and confusion in the health care industry tends to obscure many of the major accomplishments that have been made on behalf of the nation's health care. The School Nurse represents one of the most important contributions to the nation's health. This is an era when rising costs and diminishing effectiveness of the health care industry seems to surround us."

The major causes and problems affecting disease and disability appear catastrophically—cancer, automobile injuries and other traumatic causes of disability and death, suicide, teenage pregnancy, viral infections and many others represent health issues for which there are virtually no effective approaches.

"The health care industry is largely an ill-prepared industry that has relatively little effect on the level of our health, though it may periodically rescue us back from the edge of oblivion usually from diseases that should never have occurred in the first place. Much attention is paid to a relatively small percentage of problems to the apparent neglect of the majority."

"The school nurse is a perfect marvel. She demonstrates health economy in action! She ministers daily to the many ailments and injuries which may occur to students and staff in a calm effective manner. Her major mission, however, has increasingly been the prevention of disaster, the preparation of students and staff for prompt care when and where it may be needed."

"It is during the home or telephone visits that this vital school representative can work with parents to create a more effective element at home for the need for improving the circumstances for a child with a handicap, or share things with a child's health and welfare with the parents on their own ground. This is far less threatening and more effective than in the charged pressured school environment and on a more confidential basis."

"Increasing evidence is accumulating which proves the nurse's critical importance in planning, for example, a program for the child with a handicap, the victim of child abuse and neglect, meeting health care needs with resistant parents and in many other instances where medical diplomacy is vital to an undertaking where a child's health and development may be at risk."

"As each student begins school, many hidden handicaps within the student population obstruct learning—the school nurse skillfully screens them out using vision, hearing, posture and development as well as other health assessments. She works closely with private and public and private medical community resources to insure prompt attention and correction before lasting problems diminish the quality of life and learning for the student. The School Nurse is a valuable advisor to the school Principal and staff when it comes to epidemic problems of scotches, lice, colds, diphtheria and many other things that require swift action for the entire population of students to accomplish a health influence."

"In summary, the School Nurse is one of today's modern miracles of medical care. She serves, protects, advises, teaches and performs an increasingly complex range of essential services directed toward meeting student and staff basic needs. She is an integral part of the basic educational mission. Her skills, sensitivity and common sense are prized by the educational team on which she serves. She is a bridge over troubled waters which threaten the educational process."

It is only fitting that a week be designated as "National School Nurse Week." Be sure to let your school nurse know you appreciate her.

Cougars' lack of team play leads to 69-62 loss

By JEFF WILSON
COLLINSVILLE — SIU Edwardsville Pugliese shouldered the blame for his team's 69-62 loss to the Indiana State University at Evansville Screamin' Eagles Wednesday night at Fletcher Gymnasium here.

But it was the little things that his Cougar players failed to do however that figured most prominently in the setback.

For starters, Pugliese pointed out a lack of team play. "The only way that this basketball team is going to win is with a team concept," Pugliese said. "We did not have that tonight."

Pugliese was adamant about the Cougars' selfish play. And a look at the game statistics painted a bleak SIUE picture. The Cougars made just 27 shots from the floor on 82 attempts, a miserable 33 percent compared to Indiana State's 27-for-54 shooting. The Cougars were also outbounded 46-38.

Enroute to taking a 31-25 halftime lead, the Screamin' Eagles won the battle of the boards early, thanks largely to 6-7 junior Cully Nelson, who scored 19 points.

"The only reason that we've been winning is that we've been outbounding the other teams, and tonight we didn't," Pugliese said. SIUE, in its quest for a team-record tying seventh consecutive victory, turned out to be its own worst enemy. The Cougars often committed turnovers and errors that gave Indiana State relievers.

The most unforgivable error was missing simple shots. Cougar guard Archie Tyson, who led SIUE with 17 points, set the tempo early with the score tied 4-4. Tyson drove the length of the floor only to have his easy layup roll across the rim and out. Later in the game, those mistakes continued.

Randal Jones and Henry Fulton both missed easy baskets underneath, while Jones and Tyson missed key free throws late in the game. But when the Cougars began playing as a team, they started closing the gap. Tyson hit four quick points and Jeff Dean scored six points in 30 seconds to bring the Cougars within four points, 59-55. But moments later, Dean fouled out and the Cougars again started making mistakes.

The Cougar defense was commended by Indiana State coach Creighton Burns after the game, however. "In the second half, we didn't look to get it inside very much and defensively they did a good job," he said. "But we do some things to give everybody an opportunity to score."

It was no surprise that three other members of his team ended up in double figures besides Nelson.

"David Collins is our little point guard and he had seven rebounds. He had a very gutsy performance," Burns said. Collins also scored 10 points, including four in the final minutes.

For SIUE, a week's layoff after its four-overtime victory over Quincy College didn't help, according to Pugliese. "The way we played, I feel we deserved to lose," he said. "When you get 82 shots, you should win. I just don't think we had a total team effort."

Red Devils blow out Belleville St. Henry 79-33

By ROGER KRAMER
for the Press-Record
VENICE — Ken Perkins was afraid the Venice Red Devils would look past St. Henry's of Belleville Tuesday and look ahead to games with East St. Louis Lincoln and Bunker Hill Friday and Saturday.

Although the final score, 79-33, didn't indicate the Red Devils looked past the Eagles, Perkins knew they had.

"I told them we could either play aggressive ball all the way or we could play down to the level of our competition," Perkins said. "You have to dance with the lady who leads you, and you got to be aggressive the whole game."

"The kids looked past them and looked ahead to the Lincoln game. When they were able to go through our press and stay close in the first quarter, we thought

"Oh, oh, here we go again." The boys remember they beat them by 60-7 points last year and that they were going to be that easy to beat again," Perkins said.

Venice led 18-10 after the first quarter, but the Red Devils struggled to do that well. St. Henry's had problems getting the ball down the court, but when they did, they held the ball until they could pass to its top scorer, Tim LeRoy.

"That number 34 (LeRoy) is a pretty good player, but they're not a good ball handling club," Perkins said. "One kid didn't even want the ball, but he knew how to get out of trouble."

"We sure couldn't stop them with the half court press because we weren't going after them, so we had to put in the full court press. We did that to make our player go in after them because it's easier to get the ball in your court than it is to run 90 feet down and 90 feet back," Perkins said.

St. Henry's used a slow down offense for the first three quarters of the game. The slowdown game was effective in the first half and Venice led 31-17 at halftime. In the third quarter, Venice's full court press began to stop the Eagles' slowdown game through turnovers. The turnovers forced the Eagles to try to run with the Red Devils.

The Eagles were no match for Venice's speed. The Red Devils outscored St. Henry's 20-10 in the final period.

"I thought we kept them pretty well under control for three quarters," St. Henry's coach Steven McPeak said. "We tried to run with them in the fourth quarter, and that put the game out of control."

"Our whole game plan was to slow down the tempo of the game. We haven't been passing or rebounding well all year, so we had to slow it down," McPeak said.

St. Henry's game plan couldn't slow down Venice's William Watts. The junior guard scored a game high 22 points for the Red Devils. Sophomore Eddie Salmond scored 14 points for Venice. Kenneth Walker had 12 points, and Phillip White had 10 points.

"Watts played pretty well for us. Even though we weren't shooting well, he still had 11 assists. If we had made all the shots he gave us, we would have been really out of reach," Perkins said.

Venice made 35 of 69 field goal attempts for 51 percent. LeRoy scored 21 points for St. Henry's, 4-10 on the season.

"He's (LeRoy) not bad considering this is only his GRANITE CITY — Both Granite City girls' basketball teams posted victories this week. North defeated Edwardsville 50-40 on Monday night action and South inched by Cahokia, 53-52, Tuesday night.

GC South 53, Cahokia 52
South overcame a five-point fourth quarter deficit to revenge an earlier season loss to Cahokia.

In a game which was evenly matched, Cahokia had a chance to pull out the victory in the last 10 seconds of the game. Cahokia was at the free throw line, shooting a one-and-one. The first free throw was missed and South grabbed the rebound and ran out the clock.

Gary Morgan, South head coach, was pleased with his team's overall play. A third quarter let down was his only major concern.

"Luckily for us, they didn't take advantage of it and left us in the game," Morgan said. In that third quarter, South scored only seven points.

He felt a major advantage for South was its ability to control the offensive boards.

"We got quite a few offensive rebounds and put them back in," Morgan said.

"Through hustle, I think we put the ball back in on second and third shots. Any time you do that, I think it can hurt any team."

South's ability to contain two of Cahokia's top scorers was a key to the game. The last time the two teams met, Lyons and Young were the dominant offensive force for Cahokia.

This game, however, South was able to keep them out of the offensive picture. Even though another player, Jernigan, scored 22 points, Morgan didn't feel she was as much of an offensive threat.

"The other girls (Lyons and Young) can score and they can enable others to score. If you can stop them, you can stop the team. And that's what we did," Morgan said.

"We're beginning to jell defensively. Last night in the fourth quarter was our best defensive effort. We're capable of very good defensive play. It's just a matter of doing it."

South was led in scoring by

North crushes Triad

ST. JACOB — Granite City North's wrestling team defeated Triad 46-9 in a dual wrestling meet here Tuesday.

The Steelers, now 17-0 in dual meets this season, scored four pins and six decisions in rolling past the Knights.

Steve Smith, at 119 pounds, pinned Sonny Swearingin in 1:27 for the quietest pin for North. Greg Nemeth, at 105, pinned Jeff Alldredge in 5:15. Monte Kessler, at 145, pinned Dave Horner in 5:10, and Scott Corey, at 155, pinned Chris Martz in 4:00.

At 98 pounds, Colin Davis decided Ted Lines 3-1. Brent McKinney, 112, edged Scott Darling 13-12. Rod Unger, 132, defeated Rod Edgar 14-0. Rick Brown, 138, decided Tony Marchetti 4-3. Bob Patton, 167, beat Jerry Edgar 6-0, and John Morris, 185, defeated Rick Beck 3-2.

North wrestles Roxana and Cahokia in a double-dual meet Saturday at North. The Steelers host Granite City South next Thursday in the final dual match for both teams. The dual with Roxana will feature the two top area wrestling squads.

The Shells of Roxana have consistently been right behind the Steelers in area grappling polls and already have a lopsided victory over Granite City South to their credit earlier this season. However, North finished ahead of Roxana in the Granite City South Christmas Wrestling Tournament a month ago.

"We could be the team to beat in the districts if we can beat Roxana and South," North wrestling coach Walt Whitaker said.

Unbeaten Steeler grapplers eye post-season

By ROGER KRAMER
for the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Walt Whitaker, Granite City North's wrestling

coach, expected good things from the Steelers this year, but is still surprised the Steelers have compiled such an impressive record. "In one way, it's not surprising because we know we have some good kids, but in a way it has been surprising because some of our kids were developing faster than we expected them to," Whitaker said.

The Steelers have won all 17 of their dual meets. They won the Wentzville tournament last weekend and they finished a close second to Riverview Gardens in Granite City South's Holiday Wrestling Tournament in December.

Only Cahokia, Roxana and South can prevent the Steelers from having a perfect record in dual meets. They are the only remaining matches on the regular season schedule.

"If we can defeat Roxana and South, then we'll be the ones everyone will be shooting for in the district," Whitaker said.

The Steelers have five wrestlers at or near the 25 victory mark this season. Scott Corey, who wrestles at 155 pounds, is 27-0 so far. "Unless he gets hit by a truck, he'll have a great chance of going to state," Whitaker said.

Four top wrestlers in the lighter weight classes have given North the competitive edge in dual meets. Colin Davis, at 98, is 26-2 this season. Greg Nemeth, at 105, is 24-3-1. Steve Smith, at 119, is 25-1-1, and Rod Unger, at 132, is 25-3-1 for the season. "The last time we did as well was in 1977 when we were 18-1 in dual meets and finished ninth in state and had a state champion (Kris Whelan)," Whitaker said. "It is very unusual to have a team with five people over or close to 25 victories."

"Momentum is a big thing in wrestling meets," Whitaker said. "If you win at the lower weights, that gets the rest of the team rolling — and everyone wrestles tall."

North could not be 17-0 without a balanced team. And the Steelers have balance. John Morris, at 185 pounds, is 18-6 this season. Monte Kessler, at 145, is 19-10. Bob Patton, at 167, is 19-4, and heavyweight Dave Owens is 16-12.

"All of them have a shot at going to state. They have defeated tough wrestlers during the year, and depending on what bracket they end up in, they can go to the state tournament," Whitaker said.

This season, it will be easier strong teams like the Steelers to dominate the district and sectional tournaments. For the first time, the top three wrestlers in each division advance to the sectionals.

The top three finishers in the sectionals advance to the state finals. Prior to this year, only the top two finishers could qualify for the state finals.

"In a division with strong wrestlers, it means three wrestlers who come within a point of defeating each other in the tournament can advance. This will balance out the number of weaker wrestlers who will advance because of the change," Whitaker said.

In the Civic Memorial (Beltholt) district, which will be held Feb. 12-13, North, South and Roxana are the teams who should contend for the title. Those same three teams should also be strong contenders for the Granite City South sectional title Feb. 19-20.

"I've heard Smitty (Granite South coach Bill Schmitt) say how weak his teams are, but by tournament time, they're usually very tough," Whitaker said.

Whitaker said Springfield Lanphier, Springfield (Sr. High) and Carbondale should send large contingents to the sectional tournament.

Even with all the publicity about the Steelers' talent and the pressure being the top team brings, Whitaker said the Steelers are handling themselves well. "They seem to be pretty level headed about it. The pressure hasn't affected their wrestling. So far, they have handled the pressure well."

"These kids deserve all the recognition they're getting. I hope they can handle the pressure up through the districts and sectionals," Whitaker said.

All in all, it is the balance that makes the Steelers what they are. "I don't think in the big meets that you can have outstanding wrestlers in a weight class and weak ones in the others to win."

Baker likes ISU — it likes him

NORMAL — Many track athletes go through four years of college and never qualify for the NCAA track and field championship. Those who are a little more fortunate might qualify in one or two events. Then there are the elite, those who go beyond the call of duty, so to speak.

Illinois State senior Mike Baker is one of the elite. Entering his final season, Baker, a graduate of Granite City North High School, already has qualified for the nationals in three different events and has achieved all-American status in the three-mile (13:32). The 5-7, 126-pound Baker also is the holder of three ISU records in the two-mile, three-mile, and steeplechase.

ISU track coach John Coughlan says, "Mike has had a illustrious career so far at ISU." With his senior year ahead of him, what does Coughlan expect of Baker this season?

"Mike is the type of athlete that can place in any and all of our meets," says Coughlan. "He is a favorite to place in the top three in any meet this year, no matter what level of national competition." Baker was a third-place finisher in both the Drake Relays and the Dogwood Relays held annually in Tennessee.

Coughlan has had four all-Americans including Baker in his years as head coach of the Redbird track team. When asked to compare Baker with former ISU all-Americans, Coughlan replied, "Mike is blessed with a great combination of speed and endurance. All athletes are different in some respect," says Coughlan. "Some possess similar attributes. All of ISU's all-Americans possess the desire to excel, a durable personality, and the will to win."

What does Baker hope to accomplish this season? "First of all, I would like to regain my all-American status in the three-mile and run a personal record of 13:20 or 13:25," related Baker. To regain all-American status, he would have to finish in the top six at the NCAA meet or be one of the top five American finishers.

In past years, the presence of older and more experienced foreign athletes has presented an obstacle for American distance runners. Although this does not appear to be a problem in the Missouri Valley Conference, Baker said if it came down to whether or not he would make all-American and an older foreign runner beat him, he would consider it unfair.

Baker is an industrial technology major and will receive his degree next year.

MIKE BAKER

Are the 1984 Olympics in his future?

"It's a long shot goal," says Baker. "If I get there, that's fine, I'll go from there."

Although the Olympics may be a long shot, they certainly are a possibility. To qualify for the Olympic trials, Baker would have to cover 5,000 meters, which is the metric equivalent of three miles, in 15:50. With a personal best of 13:32 to his credit, the qualifying time of 13:50 is within his grasp.

Featuring a balanced scoring attack, three girls scored in double figures for North. Lilley led North with 11 points, with Trena Davis and Paula French each adding 10 points a piece.

"Another strong point for us is that we don't have a single scorer," Cook said. "We don't have one girl who scores 25 points a game with two or three girls standing around doing nothing. That's a plus."

Cook was pleased the girls were able to come back in the fourth quarter.

Cougar wrestlers look to tourney

EDWARDSVILLE — A red-hot wrestling squad from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will hit the road this weekend as the Cougars compete in one of the Midwest's premier tournaments, the Southwest Missouri State University Invitational. A two-day event, scheduled to get underway with preliminary rounds beginning at 5 p.m.

Friday, the SWMSU Invitational will feature teams from the University of Missouri-Columbia, the University of Nebraska-Omaha, Eastern Illinois, the defending national champions from Central State University of Oklahoma, and the Cougars, as well as 13 other squads in the 18-team field.

The Cougars, who will enter this weekend's tournament with an impressive 7-3 dual meet record, continued their torrid pace Friday as they bounced the visiting Mules of Central Missouri State University, 45-3, and the Bears of Southwest Missouri State University, 41-5.

Against Central Missouri, the Cougars collected a season-high five pins, including three in a row to end the meet. Steve Stearns got things underway for SIUE as the 118-pounder collected a 22-3 win in the opening match. Don Stevens, a sophomore from Ridgely Park, posted the first pin of the day in the 126-pounder from Chicago, was next up to the awards stand with an 11-4 victory. Belleville native

Madison coaches named

MADISON — The Madison School Board Thursday night announced the hiring of coaches for its spring sports. Charles Stepien was named head boys track coach at Madison High School. George Tyus and Albert Collins were named as his assistants. Michael Garland was named head baseball coach at the Madison Middle School.

Terry Beer was named head boys tennis coach at Madison High School.

John Paskus was rehired as head baseball coach at MHS with Reginald Crader as his assistant. Michael Garland was named head baseball coach at the Madison Middle School.

Terry Beer was named head boys tennis coach at Madison High School.

Discussion was tabled on the subject of starting a girls softball program at Madison High School. According to Madison Superintendent of School John Paichoff, approximately 45 girls at MHS have expressed an interest in playing softball. A question as to how a softball program at the high school would affect the girls track team was asked.

According to a spokesman, only about nine girls will be going out for the track team at MHS this spring.

Unemployment rate drops

For the first time since October of 1979, the Illinois unemployment rate fell below the U.S. rate in December.

The Illinois figure of 8.4 percent for the last month of 1981 was one-half of one percent lower than the overall U.S. unemployment rate of 8.9 percent, according to the January "Illinois Economic Data Sheet" released Wednesday by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA).

"This is good news for Illinois," Governor James R. Thompson said, "and suggests that the state's unemployment rate may be stabilizing in relationship to the national picture. Far too many Illinoisans are still out of work, but this data may indicate that Illinois will no longer suffer from unemployment in excess of the national level."

"Industrialized states, such as Illinois, generally have unemployment rates higher than the national rate in down economic periods," Wally Biermann, chief of DCCA research, said, "and this leveling off with the national rate is a welcome statistic."

In November (the latest month for which figures are available), the state's nine major standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSAs) experienced unemployment rates as follows: Bloomington (5.3 percent); Peoria (8.1 percent); Champaign (5.5 percent); and Springfield (8.5 percent); Chicago (8.0 percent); Quad-Cities (10.7 percent); Decatur (11.5 percent); Rockford (12.2 percent); the Illinois portion of the St. Louis metropolitan area (9.9 percent).

In October (the latest month for which figures are available), 89 Illinois counties registered unemployment rates below the national rate. The rates in eight counties hovered slightly above or significantly below 5 percent. A 5 percent rate is considered acceptable by most economists according to Biermann.

"Unemployment remains most serious in communities where the economy is predominantly based on manufacturing operations," Biermann said. "An economic upturn will be most obvious from such communities' employment statistics."

October contracts for future construction in Illinois were up 19 percent compared to one year ago, while the U.S. rate was down 11.2 percent. Contracts for October totaled $485 million, the third highest monthly total for 1981. Residential contracts totalled $204 million; non-residential contracts totalled $203 million; and non-building contracts (bridges, roads, etc.) totalled $77 million. November contracts declined in the state and nationally, however, by 41 and 27 percent respectively, compared to one year ago.

"Construction generally begins approximately six months after contract approval," Biermann said, "and the higher October contract rate therefore bodes well for an upswing in construction employment in the Spring."

Illinois coal production was up in October and November compared to one year ago with a total of 11.3 million tons mined. Except when affected by strike activity, Illinois coal production topped 1980 levels throughout most of 1981.

Illinois retail sales were up by 5.0 percent compared to one year ago in October (the latest month for which figures are available), while sales rose nationally by 6.5 percent.

October department store sales were up in all major Illinois cities, except Decatur, compared to one year ago as follows: Chicago (up 4.1 percent); Rock Island (up 1.1 percent); Decatur (down 0.5 percent); Peoria (up 8.3 percent); Rockford (up 1.8 percent); St. Louis (up 8.6 percent); Springfield (up 2.4 percent); Danville (up 11.5 percent); and Quincy (up 8.0 percent).

Mini-courses highlighted on SUE radio station

WSUE-FM (88.7), the public service radio station at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is highlighting some of the University's upcoming mini-courses in continuing education during the latter part of January and February.

"Continuing Education on Review" programs are aired on Tuesdays at 8:30 p.m. Donald Shandler, director of the Office of Continuing Education, moderates the sessions.

The schedule of programs for January and February includes:

—Feb. 2. Careers in Transition. Marvin Peterson, acting director of Counseling and Testing, will talk about older adults re-entering the job market after a long absence and going back to college at mid-age.

—Feb. 9. Housing Finance Alternatives. Don Brown and Phillip. These instructors, will discuss alternative ways of financing a home purchase.

—Feb. 16. Microwave Cooking. Kathleen Rule, instructor, will introduce new and different ways of preparing food.

—Feb. 23. Elderhostel.

Reba Klenke, coordinator of the Metro-East Institute of Lifetime Learning, will explore inexpensive vacation options for senior citizens.

Area residents who are interested in learning more about any of these courses may still enroll in most of them. For additional information on any of the courses offered by the SUE office of Continuing Education, contact Lynn Dieterich at (618) 692-3210.

Ill. Bell begins marketing group

Illinois Bell has begun the new year by establishing a new marketing group with headquarters in Springfield. The new organization will serve the company's large business customers located in central and southern Illinois communities.

"We have more than doubled the number of account executives we have in downstate," said Greg Hrones, Illinois Bell marketing manager who heads the new group.

Hrones said the Illinois Bell account executives each serve a particular market segment — such as government agencies, financial institutions or the lodging industry. "This segmentation helps us to be more responsive to each individual business customer's needs," he said. "Our people are not only specialists in telecommunications products and services, but also in the particular market segment which they serve."

There are four area offices under Hrones' jurisdiction. Warren Luebking of Springfield has been named Illinois Bell's account manager for the State of Illinois and the major state universities. His office remains in Springfield. Jim Schneider of Alton is responsible for customers in the 618 area code area. His office has been moved from East St. Louis to Alton.

John Vickroy, formerly of Chicago, will oversee the 309 area code area from Peoria. Nick DiGianni of Chicago moves to Springfield to serve the 217 area code business customers.

Under the new organization, business customers with 20 telephone sets or less are served by a marketing group headed by Dick Rahn and headquartered in Peoria. This organization includes a direct marketing center staff in Peoria and sales people located in Alton, Champaign, Joliet, Peoria, Rockford and Springfield.

Hrones said business customers may get more information about the realignment by calling

DAMAGE CHARGED
Leonard Ray Butler, 22, of 4912 Mueller Ave., was arrested early this week and charged with criminal damage to property after allegedly rode a trail bike (motorcycle) on Maryville School property, leaving tire tracks in the grassy area at the rear of the building. He was released on payment of a $52 cash bond.

Good and bad sides of downtown picture

LOOKS SOUND BUT NOT. The building at 19th and State streets has been the victim of "a couple of fires." To get the building back in shape might be more costly than tearing the structure down and starting all over again, perhaps turning the area into another mini-park.

MODERN UPDATE THAT WORKS. This is a more modern look that a redeveloped downtown might try to copy, Parente said the redevelopment project is open in the architectural direction it will take.

Joseph Parente (left), who prepared the slide presentation for the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, is a 20-hour-per-week Manpower federal employee with all his work time going towards the development of a revitalized downtown. Parente spends the rest of his time studying for his master's degree in city and regional planning at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

If federal cuts do not end his job, Parente said he plans to stay with the city's redevelopment project until May 1983, when he completes his post-graduate degree. A Granite City resident, he said he will try to stay with the project regardless of his job status. "We aren't going to abandon this thing if at all possible."

The best and worst of what downtown Granite City has to offer its customers was illustrated in a slide presentation viewed by downtown merchants gathered at the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce last week.

The accompanying photos are included in the short presentation which includes a variety of scenes of the downtown area.

Joseph Parente, Manpower city planner, said the show was not intended to point out the failings of any one particular business but to give viewers examples of the bright and low points of downtown life.

"We're just trying to show the problems...not trying to take pot shots," Parente said.

Business leaders and retailers who watched the presentation gave "good feedback" to the two leading the project, Parente and David Nolan, administrative assistant to Mayor Paul Schuler.

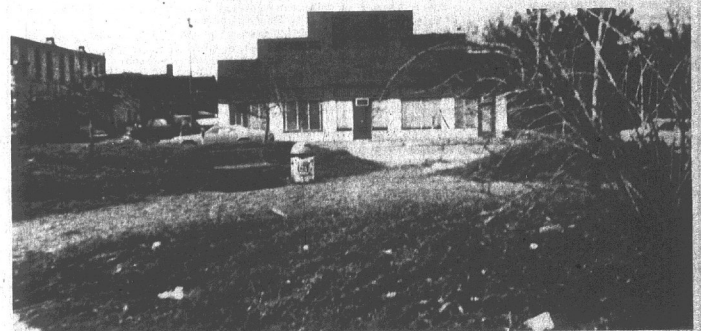

Parente said he had doubts about the getting the redevelopment project ideas off the ground but the interest shown by the downtown business community last week seemed to indicate the program had a chance of succeeding.

Besides the good and bad points shown in the accompanying photos, Nolan and Parente said downtown sidewalks are definitely showing their age. Crumbling and flaking are the result of the old concrete poured in the 1930s. Nolan said a "shine" that is coming through on some of the downtown sidewalks is "usually a good sign to redo" the work.

Besides eyesores that should be removed, Parente said there are some locations in the downtown area that are hold hidden possibilities. He used the former city hall-fire station building (Civil Defense storage area) on 19th Street as a prime example of a building that could be turned into a historical site or restaurant.

MOST ATTRACTIVE. "To me this is the most attractive building downtown," the city planner said. He cited the overall design and landscaping. The steel theme is one possibility that might be carried through during a general redevelopment.

PLANTS LOOK LIKE WEEDS. A lot of funds have been spent on this park, Parente said, but the idea just has not worked. This park and other planned downtown park areas would be maintained by an employee of the downtown redevelopment committee.

GOOD SIGNS AND BAD. Side by side are examples of a store front sign that works and one that doesn't even try. The Christian Science Reading Room sign is flush and blends with the exterior of the building. Next door, "Granny's Nook" is spray-painted freehand over a vacant store.

State increases emphasis on students' writing skills

The growing need for students to develop better writing skills has prompted the Illinois State Board of Education to adopt recommendations calling for increase emphasis on the teaching of writing.

The recommendations were made to the board by the Joint Education Committee, which is comprised of three members of the State Board and three members of the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE).

The Joint Education Committee appointed a task force of educators from elementary, secondary and higher education to review some writing programs in Illinois and other states and study research data found in articles and books by experts in writing education. The conclusion, according to the task force report, is that the writing skills of Illinois students should be improved.

Not only does that mean greater emphasis on writing in elementary and secondary subjects, but it also means college and university programs should stress "how to teach writing" to future educators, according to State Board Chairman Edward Copeland, who also chairs the Joint Education Committee.

The task force cited a recent report by the National Assessment of Educational Progress, which had studied the writing skills of 9, 13 and 17-year-olds in the late 1960s, mid-1970s and late 1970s. The report indicated that the writing levels of public school students nationally neither improved nor declined significantly during the 1970s.

The data did show, however, that 10 to 25 percent of the students in each age group apparently had "very serious problems with writing."

Other information examined by the task force showed that elementary and secondary students nationally are not required to do much writing, and neither do they receive much instruction in it.

"Writing is a basic method of communication. The ability to write well is of utmost importance, since writing is a skill that is both necessary and beneficial in industry, business, public service and throughout life," Copeland said. "Improving children's writing abilities is not only the responsibility of writing teachers, but also of instructors in other classes."

In an attempt to improve writing skills, the committee's 12-recommendation package for the State Board and IBHE prescribed that they focus on:

Teacher preparation — place greater emphasis on preparing future teachers to teach writing;

substitutions to develop curricular models, identify which writing skills are best taught in which grade levels and develop a continuum of writing instruction for grades K-12;

Research and development — support research on improving writing skills, including studies on which teaching methods, curricula and assessment methods are most appropriate for teaching writing, then disseminate the research results along with suggestions for a model writing curriculum;

Assessment — include writing as one of the subjects periodically assessed on a state-wide basis so that trends in students' writing abilities, as well as their strengths and weaknesses, can be pinpointed. Local school districts should establish a range of standards for student writing and test the students' abilities at least twice in elementary school and once in high school. At the same time, colleges and universities should assess their composition courses to determine if they are improving students' writing skills.

Staff members from the State Board and IBHE are expected to report back to the committee, the State Board and IBHE in early summer with an update on implementing the recommendations.

CONDUCT CHARGE

Joseph Swigert, 27, of 2540 Jerden Ave., was booked by Granite City police on a state complaint of disorderly conduct after he allegedly attempted to use a knife in a dispute with two men last week. David Steward, 2721 Ralph St., said he became upset over remarks Swigert allegedly made to Steward's wife and Steward and his brother, John, went outside to confront Swigert. When they did, Swigert allegedly took a fighting pose and then reached in his pocket. The Steward brothers jumped on him and prevented him from pulling his hand out of his pocket, police were told. When officers arrived, they alleged finding a steak knife in Swigert's pocket.

Boy Scouts to celebrate 72nd anniversary in U.S.

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

February will mark the 72nd anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, this is one third of the nation's existence.

Numerous events will be going on nationally, statewide and locally at the church or school in your neighborhood.

Many area churches will hold "Scout Sunday" on Feb. 7, when Cub and Boy Scouts will wear their uniforms to Sunday Schools and various churches.

In fact many churches use religious Boy Scout Sunday program covers and religious program inserts. The Boy Scout Pack will be holding, throughout the month, the traditional Blue and Gold Banquets, as Boy Scout Troops hold special Courts of Honor and family nights.

Explorer Posts generally hold parent and friend information nights on just what the Explorer program for older youths is all about. In the Quad-City area several stores and business places will have window displays, giving the Scout units a chance to tell their particular story to the public.

A list of these displays will be published in a later issue of the Granite City Press-Record.

The displays will be up from Sunday, Feb. 7, through Saturday, Feb. 13 in most cases.

The annual Scouters' recognition dinner of the Cahokia Mound Council, is being held Saturday, Feb. 6, at 6:30 p.m. at the Veterans' of Foreign War's Hall in Edwardsville.

About 375 area volunteer Scout leaders, from the southern half of Madison County and Bond County, will be in attendance and the meeting will be highlighted by the presentation of the Silver Beaver Award to three leaders.

Speaking at that dinner will be Clifton Simmons, the national director of the Community Relationships for the BSA.

The BSA was founded officially on Feb. 8, 1910. The Boy Scout movement was founded in England by Sir Baden-Powell (later Lord Baden-Powell) in 1908.

Scouting was brought to the United States by W. D. Boyce a publisher from Chicago.

The BSA was granted a federal charter by Congress in 1916.

The President of the United States is the Honorary President of the BSA.

The Boy Scout movement quickly caught on throughout the world and is in basically every nation within the free world today, being outlawed in Communist dominated countries.

In 1948 a United Nations Scout Association was formed at Lake Success, N.Y.

The charter allows the UN and it's specialized agencies to have the program wherever they have offices.

The Cahokia Mound Council (CMC) was officially formed in it's present boundaries in 1921.

Scouting was started in May 1917 here and known then as the Granite City Boy Scouts.

The CMC currently has 1,461 Cub Scouts in 47 packs, 871 Boy Scouts in 43 troops, and 258 Explorers in 15 posts, with 1,021 volunteer leaders.

The offices of the council are at 2016 Delmar Ave., telephone 876-0666.

Cub Scouting is for youths between 8 and 11 years of age, Boy Scouts are for boys 11 and older.

Explorers may be either girls or boys that are at least 14 years of age and in the ninth grade.

Parents or youths interested in any of the three programs may get further information on a Scout unit nearest them by contacting the local BSA office.

STUDENTS TO TOUR CARBONDALE CAMPUS
Southern Illinois university at Carbondale admissions officials will welcome prospective students to that campus Saturday, Feb. 13, for a day of tours, information gathering and get-togethers with university faculty and staff members.

The University's first guest day of the new year is geared to prospective transfer students and veterans considering entering or re-entering school.

It also is open to high school students, their parents and others interested in obtaining information about SIUC.

Nomination of Mounds as historic site advances

Hopes of including the Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site on the prestigious World Heritage List have advanced, Governor James R. Thompson has announced.

Nominating papers jointly prepared by the U.S. Department of Interior and the Illinois Department of Conservation have been completed and forwarded to the World Heritage Committee, the governor noted.

Cahokia Mounds, the mysterious collection of prehistoric mounds built by an enigmatic civilization that disappeared around 1300 A.D., is considered by the state as a great cultural and historical attraction with much yet to be learned from its exploration, he added.

"We believe that Cahokia Mounds is a cultural property of outstanding universal value to mankind," Thompson said.

"Mounds Mound, the largest prehistoric earthen structure in the New World, and the 100 or so associated mounds are evidence of an advanced, highly-civilized culture. At one time, the central city at Cahokia is believed to have had a population of 10,000 people or more. It truly is a site worthy of international recognition and protection."

The Cahokia Mounds nomination, first announced several weeks ago when work on the nominating papers began, marks the first time that a state-managed site has been nominated for the prestigious World Heritage List. All previous American nominations have involved federally owned or managed sites.

The World Heritage List, maintained under the auspices of the United Nations Education, Science and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), provides an international system of recognizing and preserving for future generations outstanding natural and cultural resources that have world significance.

Gov. Thompson was notified by the U.S. Department of Interior that documents nominating Cahokia Mounds and describing its significant features had been forwarded to the World Heritage Committee.

If the 21-nation World Heritage Committee determines that Cahokia Mounds meets the stringent requirements for inclusion on the list, it could take its place among the great Pyramid of Cheops, Mt. Everest and other international landmarks by the fall of 1982.

Archaeological evidence suggests that the site at Cahokia was first populated by prehistoric peoples about 700 A.D., when Indians of the Woodland culture populated the area. The Woodland Indians were principally hunters and gatherers, but they did cultivate a few small grains.

Around 850 A.D., the area was inhabited by Indians of the Mississippian culture. The Mississippian Indians depended on a well-developed agricultural system with corn, beans and squash as the principal cultivated crops. Because of the lush nature of the Mississippi Valley, which allowed them to grow plenty of food to apply and supplement their cultivated crops by hunting and fishing, the Cahokians had time to develop a highly sophisticated social order involving complex political and religious organizations.

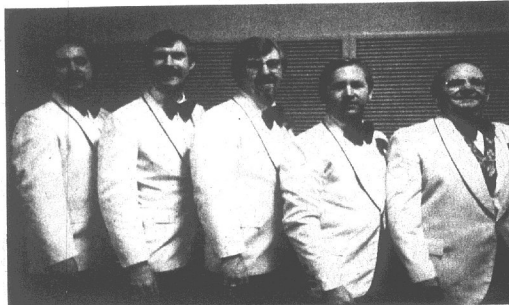

For the next 450 years, Cahokia flourished. It became the hub of a prehistoric metropolis and was home for up to 10,000 people. It was apparently the center of trade for surrounding villages from Alloué to Columbia, an area in which at least another 30,000 people lived. Artifacts from as far away as the Gulf of Mexico have been unearthed at Cahokia.

A unique feature of Cahokia is the astronomical observatory "Woodhenge." Woodhenge was a circular arrangement of 48 wooden posts with a viewing post in the center. Similar to Europe's famous Stonehenge, Woodhenge was used to observe solstices, equinoxes and other celestial events the Cahokians felt were significant. The presence of such a structure is evidence that the people who built it had a sophisticated understanding of the calendar and astronomy.

Around 1300 A.D., nearly three centuries before the first Europeans penetrated the Illinois territory, a civilization that built the fabulous city disappeared, leaving Cahokia Mounds as the only evidence of its existence.

Only nine sites in America have been included on the World Heritage List. They are Everglades National Park, Florida; Grand Canyon National Park, Arizona; Mesa Verde National Park, Colorado; Redwood Forest National Park, California; Wrangell-St. Elias, Alaska; Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming; Independence Hall, Pennsylvania; Mammoth Cave National Park, Kentucky; and Olympic National Park, Washington.

Benefit ball Saturday

The Joey James Orchestra will provide music for dancing at the 44th annual Crippled Children's Ball at 9 p.m. Saturday in the Venice-Madison American Legion Hall, 740 Broadway, Venice.

Sponsored annually by the Venice Crippled Children's Organization, proceeds from the ball help to support work at the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children.

Others benefiting from the gala event, include the Shriner's Burns Center, St. Louis Children's Hospital, March of Dimes Foundation, the Salk Institute and the Organization for the Handicapped (OATH).

Tickets, costing $2 each, may be obtained at the door Saturday night, or in advance from Jack Tolliver and George Mangiaracino, ticket co-chairmen.

Dance music will be played from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. by the Joey James Orchestra, which has appeared at the Hyatt-Regency O'Hare Hotel, Sheraton O'Hare Hotel and the Sheraton Oakbrook Hotel, all in Chicago.

At the latter hotel, the group performed with entertainer Art Linkletter.

In addition to numerous public engagements in the local area, the band also appears at private functions, including conventions at hotels, country clubs and the Missouri Athletic Club in St. Louis.

Orchestra leader Joey James is an accomplished musician on the accordion.

cordovox and piano and also provides vocals. Performing with him are:

Ron Mitchell, who plays trumpet and sings and was formerly with the Ron Mitchell Trio, Sal Denon Big Band and Ron Mitchell Orchestra;

George Koprivica, string bass and electric bass, formerly with Joe Bozzi and Johnny Polzin orchestras.

Gordon "Piccolo Pete" Routh, who plays saxophone and clarinet and sings and was formerly with the Joe Ladd and Walter Schlemer orchestras; and Wayne Kopchak, drums.

Tom Fields, general chairman of the 1982 ball, is urging the public to attend and support the organization's philanthropic endeavor.

Crackdown on unlicensed Ill. professionals

Attorney General Tyrone Fanner and Gary L. Clayton, director of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education (DRE), announced Monday night the filing of complaints for injunction against 11 allegedly unlicensed practitioners of professions and occupations regulated by the DRE.

These filings represent the start of a crackdown Attorney General Fanner and the Department of Registration and Education are waging against unlicensed practitioners, Clayton said.

Thanks to the attorney general, our department now has the power to actively go after those who illegally engage in occupations requiring licensure."

In Madison County, Frederick B. Dillard, 72, was charged with practicing medicine and midwifery here without a license. He never had an Illinois office but delivered babies at Illinois homes from 1971 to 1980.

Fanner recently named three attorneys from DRE's Enforcement Division as assistant attorneys general. This action gave the DRE authority, through the attorney general, to seek injunctive relief against unlicensed practitioners.

The 11 filings in various circuit courts are the accounting, barbering and nursing citations.

Injunctions against the unlicensed previously were sought through state attorneys on a case-by-case basis without DRE's direct court participation.

Clayton said the problem also will be attacked through criminal prosecutions.

Since most licensing acts administered by the DRE provide criminal penalties for unlicensed practice of a profession, the department also plans to pursue this avenue of enforcement against the unlicensed.

THREE-WHEELER GONE

A red three-wheel motorcycle, valued at $1,500, was stolen from the driveway of the owner, Matt Shewell, 1366 Norwood Drive, The cycle was chained and locked to a fence, but the lock was cut. The theft is believed to have happened last week.

TRUCK BURGLARY

Miscellaneous screwdrivers and wrenches and a 12-volt battery were stolen from the pickup truck of Randy Foster, 1832 E. 23rd St. while it was parked near his home, he reported early this week.

Courts terminate 1,452 cases in Dec.

The volume of pending cases in Circuit Court, Third Judicial Circuit (Madison and Bond counties), decreased during December by several hundred cases and progress was made in catching up currency in nearly every division, according to the monthly report released Wednesday.

"The chief judge, Joseph J. Barr, and the circuit clerk are satisfied with the report and the progress of the court system during the month of December," said Madison County Circuit Clerk Ward Porter.

Overall, 1,185 cases were filed in December and 12,624 were terminated.

Following are the numbers of each major type of case filed, terminated and pending at the end of September.

Cases	Filed	Terminated	Pending
1,000	1,185	1,452	12,624
Law cases seeking more than $15,000	69	113	2132
Non-jury	32	17	302
Law cases seeking $1,000 to $15,000	7	81	617
Jury	33	64	1292
Non-jury	33	64	1292
Other cases	7	16	482
Chancery	39	23	482
Miscellaneous Remedy	1	2	37

Felony	283	393	1821
Misdemeanor	341	366	2180
Small Claims	1,185	1,452	12,624

Of the felony defendants whose cases were terminated during the month, 54 were convicted, 12 had their cases dismissed or consolidated with other cases and four were reduced to misdemeanors.

Guilty pleas during the month included one for murder, two for Class X felonies, one for a Class One felony, 17 for Class Two felonies, 26 for Class Three felonies and five for Class Four felonies. Juries found one defendant guilty of a Class X felony during the month and one Class Three felony was found by the court to be valid.

Felony sentences during the month included 12 persons sent to prison, eight receiving probation with periodic imprisonment and 34 receiving probation or conditional discharges with other conditions.

Full agenda at BAC drug awareness week

Information is the purpose of the alcohol and drug awareness week, Feb. 1 through 6, sponsored by the Belleville Area College Student Senate, according to Bill Goodnick, coordinator for the week.

"We want to inform the people; we are not trying to reform them," Goodnick, a member of the Student Senate, said.

Goodnick explained that the purpose of the week is to inform people on the positive and negative points of drugs and the abuse of those drugs. Current and accurate information on drugs, drug abuse and rehabilitation programs in the area also will be presented.

"The awareness week will benefit anyone who attends," Goodnick said. "He may be able to use the information he learns to help someone close to him someday. 'Everyone is welcome,'" he added.

The week includes 14 films on alcoholism and drug abuse, more than 25 speakers, ranging from counselors to recovering alcoholics and drug addicts, to group discussions on aspects of alcohol and drug use.

The week will culminate on Saturday, Feb. 6, with Project Snowball-Snowflake. The all-day session will give participants the chance to explore their feelings about alcohol and drug use through small group discussions, exercises and games and a sharing of experiences.

All events during the week will take place at the BAC theatre at the main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville. Registration for Project Snowball-Snowflake will be taken throughout the week in the theatre. Advance registration is preferred, but registration will be taken at the door.

More information is available from Bill Goodnick, 235-2700, extension 279, or 235-6307.

City's federal credit union marks its 25th anniversary

Granite City Employees Federal Credit Union, 2017 Grand Ave., was honored by the Credit Union National Association, Inc. (CUNA) this week on the occasion of its 25th anniversary.

In a message to Granite City Employees Federal Credit Union's board of directors, CUNA President Jim R. Williams said, "You can be proud of your achievements in helping people improve their economic well-being, improve their standards of living, and increase their awareness of financial alternatives. Your efforts have helped the credit union movement become a family 46 million strong."

Williams' message will be read to the credit union's board of directors at a celebration honoring the credit union's 25th anniversary at the annual meeting to be held on Saturday evening, Jan. 30 at the K of C Hall in Granite City.

The credit union was chartered in 1957 to serve the employees of the City of Granite City. "We now serve 385 members and our total assets have grown from $50,000 in 1957 to over $281,000," said credit union President, Michael Devine. Granite City Employees Federal Credit Union is one of approximately 21,000 credit unions nationwide serving more than 46 million Americans. CUNA is the national trade association for U.S. credit unions.

'Sweetheart Dance' for seniors Feb. 13

The Granite City Park District will sponsor a "Seniors Sweetheart Dance" on Saturday, Feb. 13, from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m., at the Namrock Recreation Center, 1400 Franklin and Ames Avenues.

Music for dancing will be provided by the "Alley Kats," a local group of musicians under the direction of Howard Bolton.

A park district spokesman said all senior citizens are invited to attend the festive event and "bring along a friend."

Soft drinks and popcorn will be served.
